Insurgents In Rout Northeast Of Madrid Now

Loyalists Say Franco's Men, Including Italians, Retreating So Rapidly They Cannot Be Engaged in Battle

Number of Towns Reported Taken

Associated Press
Madrid, March 22.—The government's northeastern army reported today it had pressed the insurgent retreat into a rout, capturing town after town in a rapid advance on the insurgent stronghold of Sigüenza.

The main column of Gen. Jose Miaja, commander of Madrid's armies, was reported to be approaching Almadrones, only twelve miles south of the insurgent base of operations at Sigüenza, after a twenty-eight-mile advance from Guadalajara.

At no point, dispatches from the vanguard commanders outside of Almadrones reported, had the pursuing column been able to engage the fleeing insurgents, routed in their fifth attempt to smash Madrid's defenses.

MANY BOMBS DROPPED
Launching the drive on Sigüenza itself, government bombers dropped 26,000 pounds of explosives on insurgent concentrations and supply dumps. Munition trains were said to have been destroyed, and one bomb found its target on the railroad station, causing a great explosion that was believed to have demolished a gasoline depot.

TOWNS CAPTURED
A column to the east of the main body reported the capture of Cogollor, eight miles southeast of Almadrones, on the road from Ciudad Real and Yela, a small village to the south of Cogollor.

Capture of Almadrones would complete the recovery of the territory taken by the insurgents in their short-lived drive on the capital from the northeast.

ITALIAN DOCUMENT
The government continues to offer evidence of Italian participation in the civil war. Yesterday it published a document which it said was a message of greeting from the Fascist Grand Council to "our 50,000 comrades who are fighting in Spain."

This document, said to have been issued at Salamanca, March 3, in the name of "General Manzini," was captured on the Guadalajara front, the government said.

MUSSOLINI HURRIES HOME

Sandstorm in North Africa Cause, Says Rome; Spain, Says London Paper

Canadian Press from Havas
London, March 22.—The rout of Italian troops in Spain by the Madrid forces was the real reason for Premier Mussolini's sudden departure from Tripoli for Rome yesterday, it was reported by The London Daily Herald today.

Mussolini, as soon as he returns, will study the Spanish situation and send new "recommendations" to General Francisco Franco, the paper said.

"A sandstorm yesterday was made the official excuse for the plan," it went on. "But there is no doubt here that events in Spain really influenced Mussolini in his sudden decision to return home as rapidly as possible."

ROME'S DECLARATION

Canadian Press from Havas
Rome, March 22.—A Libyan sandstorm, not new international troubles, was the reason for Premier Mussolini's sudden departure from Tripoli yesterday, it was officially explained here today.

The sandstorm, it was declared, prevented the Premier from flying to the oasis of Ghadames in the interior, as he had planned, and therefore hastened his departure.

NEWSPAPER BLASTS
British newspaper comments on the reported rout of Italian contingents in Spain drew angry blasts from the newspaper Messagero.

"Anti-Fascism excluded the possibility that Malaga, which it believed impregnable, would fall," the newspaper said. "A few days later Malaga fell to the insurgents, not without the efficient support of Italian volunteers, a fact the Valencia communiques and reports in the British press appear to ignore."

"Episodes of this type will repeat themselves. The British nose, already longer than that of their guest, Ras Tafari (Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia), may be further lengthened, so much so that no gas mask can hide it."

Switch Evidence In Explosion Inquiry

Boy Tells Investigators at New London, Texas, Teacher Threw in Electrical Connection in School and Great Blast Followed

New London, Texas, March 22.—Superintendent W. C. Shaw broke into the story of the London Consolidated School's explosion tragedy to the military court of inquiry today, defending the rural school system from hints of negligence.

Once, at the height of his testimony, the frail, bewildered schoolmaster almost prostrate from grief since 455 of his pupils and teachers were killed, broke down when photographers snapped his picture, and was removed to a cot in a nearby anteroom.

BOY'S STORY
Military investigators briefly questioned a fifteen-year-old school boy whose testimony electrified the courtroom.

John Dial said the explosion occurred, it seemed to him, just as his teacher, T. R. Butler, threw a light switch in the manual training room. The ninth grade pupil continued: "I was making a cabinet. Mr. Butler reached up and pulled the light switch. Then the noise came and a flash of fire blinded me. I didn't actually see the switch, but you know they generally make little sparks fly when they are pulled."

"That may be the answer to the puzzling question of the origin of the spark which touched off the gas."

ACTION DEFENDED
Mr. Shaw, who lost a son in the explosion, quietly defended the school's action in tapping the gas

Seven in Court For Sunday Sales

Canadian Press
Toronto, March 22.—Seven summonses which were to bring men into court were the fruits of a police campaign here yesterday against drugstores and restaurants and other business establishments which sold tobacco and cigarettes on Sunday.

Police enforced an ancient blue law forbidding anything but drugs being sold by drugstores on Sunday, following protests from tobaccoists. Any storekeeper selling goods on Sunday, under the law, faces a $5 fine, with the purchaser facing a $2 fine.

Rescue Work in Wreckage of Texas School

The devastation caused by the great explosion at the London Consolidated School at New London, Texas, is indicated by the above picture. Workmen, toiling where a short time before the high school section of the building had stood, were tracing cries of children trapped beneath fragments of walls and floors. A number were saved, but the death toll mounted to 455.

Simplification Of Taxes Urged

Canadian Press
Calgary, March 22.—Abolition of duplication in taxing system of various governments as a means of increasing funds available for education was suggested here today by Secretary-treasurer D. C. Bayne in the Calgary School Board annual report.

Woman Tells Of Shooting

Associated Press
Paris, March 22.—Madame Madeline La Ferriere, the newspaperwoman who shot Count Charles de Chambrun, told a magistrate behind closed court doors today what her attorney said was the story of betrayed confidences about "My Benito."

The woman, who blames Count de Chambrun for such a "betrayal," shot the count at the Gare du Nord last Wednesday night, wounding him slightly. De Chambrun until recently was French ambassador to Italy.

Says Reason For Sooke Traps Gone

A. W. Neill, Giving His Views to Commons Committee, Says Devices Adversely Affect Fishermen Elsewhere

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 22.—The sole reason for continuing salmon traps in the Sooke, B.C. area, disappeared two years ago when all traps in United States waters were removed, A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni, declared today before the Commons committee on marine and fisheries.

The continuance of such an exclusive and valuable privilege was now a question of "men or money," he argued. Traps at Sooke destroyed

Movie Industry In Victoria to Expand To Greater Field

BY-ELECTIONS IN TWO RIDINGS

Hamilton, Ont., March 22.—Hamilton West electors voted in perfect weather today to name a successor in the House of Commons to Herbert E. Wilton, Conservative member who died several months ago. The polls opened at 9 a.m. and will close at 6 p.m.

Indications toward noon pointed to a comparatively light vote.

The candidates are Kennedy Connor, Liberal; John Marsh, Conservative; and John O'Hanley, C.C.F.

Hamilton West has been held by the Conservatives for more than thirty years.

POLLING IN BONAVENTURE
New Carlisle, Que., March 22 (Canadian Press).—Bonaventure marked ballots today for a new member of the House of Commons, the people going to the polls to choose between three candidates for the seat left vacant by the death of Hon. Charles Marcell, veteran Liberal.

Pierre Emile Cote, former Quebec Minister of Highways, is the Liberal candidate; Maurice Thibault, K.C., of New Carlisle and William O'Donnell of Quebec City are Independents.

Long-term Programme of Production on Larger Scale Arranged as Result of Conference Between Central Films Head and Foreign Manager of Columbia Pictures

"We now know that the production of pictures will be permanent in Victoria," Kenneth J. Bishop, president and producer of Central Films Limited, was able to say this morning as the result of an extended conference on Saturday with J. H. Seidelman, foreign manager of Columbia Pictures Incorporated, at present bound for the Orient.

Mr. Bishop went to Vancouver on the midnight boat Friday to meet Mr. Seidelman on his arrival from New York, and accompanied him to Victoria on board the R.M.S. Empress of Japan. During the hour and a half stopover here Mr. Seidelman visited the Willows studios of Central Films and informed a Victoria Times representative he was "very agreeably surprised" with the equipment of the plant.

As a result of the conference between Mr. Bishop and Mr. Seidelman on board the liner and in Victoria a definite long-term schedule of pictures has been arranged for production by Central Films under contract for Columbia Pictures. These pictures will be for release both under the British quota regulations in the British Isles and by general distribution in the United States and Canada.

"It is a much better programme than last year's," said Mr. Bishop this morning.

BRITISH QUOTA
The position of Central Films in Victoria depends largely on the British quota laws. The regulations at present provide that for every four pictures imported into Britain by a United States company the company must also show one picture made on British soil, with at least 75 per cent of the salaries paid to British subjects.

The recent virtual collapse of the movie industry in Britain is generally expected to lead to an even tighter quota as an aid to getting domestic production back on its feet.

"At the moment we are uncertain what is going to happen in England," said Mr. Bishop. "We know the quota restrictions are going to be greater, but we do not know how far."

QUOTES THE ACT
In his summary, Mr. Neill contended the very existence of traps might be proved illegal under Section 27 of the Fisheries Act, which prohibited any "device which unduly obstructs the passage of fish."

Japan Volcano's Eruption Grows

Associated Press
Hakodate, Japan, March 22.—The ominous rumblings of volcanic Mt. Komogadate drove the populace of southern Hokkaido island to refuge in the open air today in fear the fatal eruption and tidal wave of 1929 might be repeated. For five days the volcano has been throwing out black clouds of ashes, smoke and boiling mud.

VATICAN-REICH SPLIT IS SEEN

If It Comes Germany Will Be to Blame, Declares Pope

Associated Press
Berlin, March 22.—Secret police today were reported "watching" persons they suspected of delivering to foreign correspondents excerpts of yesterday's papal letter to Catholic congregations, accusing the Nazi regime of violating the concordat and encouraging pagan movements.

German Catholic clergy, simultaneously, referred to the Vatican all requests for the text of the letter. At the Vatican, they said, the communication was being translated for transmission to bishops throughout the world.

On the other hand, Nazis hinted openly a rupture of Germany's relations with the Vatican.

SUN LOSES RECORDS IN BIG BLAZE

Editorial Staff Takes Temporary Quarters After Its Offices Guttured, and Paper Is Issued; Business Offices Also Swept, But Presses and Linotypes Not Damaged

Canadian Press
Vancouver, March 22.—The editorial staff of The Vancouver Sun moved into temporary quarters and today's editions came out on time although fire had swept through the three-story building which housed the editorial and business offices of the newspaper and caused losses estimated at $200,000.

Meanwhile, fire wardens sought to determine the cause of the blaze which, starting at 2 o'clock this morning, roared through the building. Police were checking a rumor that an unidentified man had been seen hurrying from the building just before the blaze was discovered.

NEW GOVERNOR FOR ALBERTA

J. C. Bowen, Former Liberal House Leader, Named to Post

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 22.—J. C. Bowen of Edmonton has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta. Announcement was made today by Prime Minister King.

Edmonton, March 22.—J. C. Bowen, whose appointment as Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta was announced in Ottawa today, succeeds Hon. P. C. H. Primmose, who died here Wednesday.

The appointment will make it possible for the Alberta Legislature to reconvene Tuesday, an adjournment having been forced by the death of Col. Primmose. The British North America Act makes no provision for anyone to act between the death of a Lieutenant-Governor and the appointment of his successor.

BORN IN OTTAWA
Mr. Bowen is a former member of the Alberta Legislature and once acted as floor leader for the Liberals. He was born at Osgoode, Ont., near Ottawa, October 3, 1872, and was educated at Brandon College, Manitoba, and McMaster University, Toronto. He became a Baptist minister and was pastor of churches in Winnipeg, Dauphin and Edmonton.

He became secretary of the board of education of the Baptist Union of Western Canada, but in 1912, serious illness forced him to resign.

LEAVE FOR MEN OF CONTINGENT

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 22.—No special uniform will be issued to Canada's military, naval and air force contingent which will attend the Coronation, which was learned today. All ranks in the armed forces will wear service khaki. Officers, however, will be required in addition to take their mess kits and dress uniforms.

The contingent, mobilizing at Lansdowne Park here about April 15, will sail aboard a Canadian Pacific steamer on April 28. The men will be under military discipline until after the Coronation, when they will be granted seven days' leave in the United Kingdom.

NEW ATLANTIC SPEED RECORD

Liner Normandie, Eastbound From New York, Averaged 31 Knots, Against Ss. Queen Mary's Former 30.63 Mark, Say Officers

Associated Press
Paris, March 22.—The French Line announced tonight the liner Normandie had set a new east-bound trans-Atlantic speed mark with an average speed of almost 31 knots from the Ambrose Light to Bishop's Rock. The Normandie's performance bettered the speed mark of 30.63 knots set by the liner Queen Mary by almost 4 of a knot, the French Line said.

The Normandie, which left the Ambrose Light at 11 a.m. Thursday, passed Bishop's Rock at 6:45 o'clock this evening.

Line officials said the Normandie covered 2,906 miles in four days 6 minutes and 23 seconds. The Queen Mary, they reported, crossed from the Ambrose Light to Bishop's Rock in three days 23 hours 57 minutes on a 2,990-mile voyage.

The speed mark claimed by the line was computed on the average speed rather than the elapsed time of the voyage.

Damage to the building was set at $100,000, while the loss of records and equipment was estimated at another $100,000.

TWO ARE INJURED

Two employees of the newspaper suffered minor injuries fighting the fire. G. H. Sallans, managing editor, suffered from smoke inhaled while he was trying to save valuable records, and collapsed on the street after staggering from the burning building. He was quickly revived.

J. Johnson, janitor, was burned about the head as he tried to put out the fire with hand fire-extinguishers.

The fire was believed to have started in an elevator shaft near the second floor editorial rooms and quickly spread to the first and third floors of the building, owned by interests in Canton, China.

The adjoining four-story building, owned by The Sun Publishing Company, and containing the newspaper's presses and linotype machines, was protected by a fire wall and fire doors and was not damaged. The six-story Shelly office building on the other side likewise was not affected.

EXPLOSION HEARD

The damaged building was unoccupied at the time. Composing-room employees said they heard an explosion, which was followed by a burst of flame in the rear of the editorial rooms.

Within a short time the entire floor was blazing and the fire quickly spread to floors above and below. Linotype operators closed the fire door between the editorial and composing rooms.

BUILDINGS ENDANGERED

Three alarms were turned in as the flames roared skyward, endangering the adjoining buildings.

Firemen brought the blaze under control at 4 a.m., after pouring water from the front and rear and the tops of the adjoining buildings.

An early estimate of the losses had put them at a lower figure. Discovery that many records had been destroyed was said to have raised the estimate.

In their temporary quarters in the third story of the adjoining building, which houses the mechanical equipment of The Sun, editorial employees completed a twenty-page paper in less than three hours, and the early editions today appeared on the streets on time.

Says Reason For
Sooke Traps Gone

The president of the Sooke Fishing and Packing Company, Charles P. Goodrich, of Victoria, had been "evasive," Mr. Neill claimed. He had refused to produce balance sheets and had quoted statements of three fishermen, which had been at once contradicted by the three fishermen.

TELEGRAMS READ

The company had claimed other means of fishing were impractical in these waters, to which Mr. Neill quoted telegrams from fishermen who had fished in that area.

To say the company would be closed was an "idle threat," Mr. Neill said. That company had once bought a good part of its fish from fishermen in the area and that would be done again. The company had pleaded the amount of income tax it paid, which was as logical, Mr. Neill said, as arguing that a gambling house should be allowed to operate because of the income tax it would pay the government.

He recognized the company's investment might be prejudiced if traps were completely outlawed, but the licenses were only for one year. His boats could be used for other purposes. When prohibition had been voted in, hotel owners had received no compensation for destruction of their business.

CANNERS IN OPERATION

"If forty-two canneries can run without traps, why can't forty-three?" asked Mr. Neill.

Original capital of the Sooke company was $24,000, while its income tax indicated an annual profit of about $50,000 on half the traps, the other half being owned by the Todd Company.

TWO-YEARS OPERATIONS

To mitigate losses to the company, Mr. Neill suggested the licenses be continued this year and in 1938, then cancelled thereafter.

L. Clare Moyer, counsel for the Sooke company, claimed traps were less destructive of fish than other fishing gear.

He did not believe the State of Washington would be influenced to restore its fish traps by the continuance of these few traps at Sooke. That state had its own reasons for

U.S. Works For Europe Peace

Efforts of Secretary of State Cordell Hull to Have Continents Follow Pan-American Programme Are Revealed

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, March 22.—Efforts of Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, to secure European peace have gone much farther than his recent testimony to the United States House of Representatives appropriations committee indicates.

Mr. Hull told the committee he had recommended to a certain foreign statesman that Europe follow the programme adopted by the Pan-American Peace Conference at Buenos Aires.

Since he has said that much, it is possible to disclose he has been working overtime in an undercover effort to inspire the old world to tackle its dangerous problems from the standpoint of his "eight pillars of peace" laid down at Buenos Aires.

Whether he realizes it or not, his teachings come close to those of "practical religionists," like the Oxford Group, which is undertaking spiritual world revolution with the ethical teachings of the Sermon on the Mount as ammunition.

EUROPEAN WAR SEEN

One also gets the distinct impression from talks with highly placed persons that some government officials apart from Mr. Hull believe Europe is on the brink of disaster, with its threats of war, rearmament programmes and selfish nationalist policies.

They hold that unless Europe applies the brakes, a situation will develop in which—as the Secretary has put it—"if a military catastrophe does not occur within another year or so, it is almost inevitable that there may be an economic catastrophe, and the one is nearly as bad in its effect on us as the other."

The "eight pillars of peace" outlined by Mr. Hull are: Internal quiet and education; frequent international conferences; swift ratification of existing peace pacts; adoption of a common neutrality policy; fair and equal commercial policies; practical international co-operation; strengthening of international law, and faithful observance of the sanctity of treaties.

PLOT ON KING'S LIFE IS DENIED

Scotland Yard Knows Nothing of Reported Arrest in London

Associated Press
London, March 22.—Scotland Yard spokesmen today reiterated that police headquarters knew nothing about reports it was investigating a suspected plot against the life of King George VI.

The newspaper Sunday Referee reported such an investigation in progress. It said detectives had raided the room of an unknown man and found a throwing knife wrapped up in a map of the route of the Coronation procession.

The newspaper asserted Scotland Yard was questioning an unnamed man.

It reported detectives had found more than 100 newspaper clippings giving details of the Coronation procession May 12.

Details covered by the clippings, it said, included the position to be occupied by the King's carriage in the procession, the times when the procession was scheduled to pass certain points and the exact route to be followed.

The company employs regularly plasterers, carpenters, painters, electricians and other workers ranging in number between thirty and sixty, giving major and extra parts to a number of local actors and purchases or hires material and services from almost every type of business in the city.

eye trouble forced him to give up church work and he came to Edmonton and entered the insurance business.

Mr. Bowen was appointed chaplain of the 6th Battalion in the summer of 1915, serving in France with the 14th Artillery Brigade. He was invalided home in 1918.

Back in Edmonton, he left the ministry and again went into business. He was elected an alderman of Edmonton in 1920, and a year later became a member of the Legislature.

When C. R. Mitchell, Liberal Party leader at that time, was appointed to the bench, he became House leader.

UNDERWENT OPERATION

Late in 1925, the strain of public life aggravated his old eye trouble and only a delicate operation saved his sight. He was defeated in the 1928 provincial election and in 1928 for the Edmonton mayoralty.

At present he is chairman of the board of governors of Brand College. In 1905 he married Edith Oliver of Blenheim, Ont., and they have two daughters, Margaret and Ruth.

Mrs. Bowen is a former president of the Women's Canadian Club of Edmonton.

INSTABILITY SEEN

Canadian Press from Havas
Paris, March 22.—Fifteen days absence of Il Duce is enough to demonstrate the lack of stability in central Europe as it is built around the Rome-Berlin axis," the Paris Midi commented today.

The newspaper said Premier Mussolini's sudden departure from Tripoli yesterday was due to increasing Austro-German tension resulting from the dismissal of Odo Neustadter-Sturmmer, pro-Nazi Minister of Public Security, from the Austrian cabinet.

Canadian Press from Havas
Gast, Italy, March 22.—Premier Mussolini, returning from a tour of Libya, arrived here from Tripoli aboard the cruiser Pola today. He left immediately for Rome by automobile.

Sit-downers

Twenty-five Evicted From Detroit Printing Plant, But 6,000 Still in Chrysler Plants

Associated Press

Detroit, March 22.—Police continued to evict sit-down strikers from small captive plants today, in disregard of a United Automobile Workers' threat to call a city-wide automotive strike, in retaliation.

Home Martin, who declared Saturday that a general automotive strike would be called in "every organized plant" in Detroit if the police did not cease "raiding, slugging and black-jacking strikers and innocent bystanders," withheld comment on the ousting of twenty-five strikers from the Thomas P. Henry Co. printing plant.

PARADE DESPITE BAN

An hour and a half later, the city council refused a permit for a huge demonstration called by the U.A.W. for 5 p.m. tomorrow at Cadillac Square, in the heart of the city, to "show labor's strength."

Merlin D. Bishop, educational director of the U.A.W., said the demonstration would be held without the permit.

Martin was participating today in the union's conference with Chrysler Corporation officials on a strike which has kept eight Chrysler plants here closed. He made public a letter to Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan asserting the Chrysler conferees were "stalling" and asking the Governor "to give the workers a square deal and avoid needless human suffering and bloodshed by demanding that corporation abide by the law."

NO VIOLENCE

The removal of the strikers from the Thomas P. Henry Printing Co. plant, which they had occupied since March 11, was accomplished without violence.

Fifty policemen entered the printing plant, apparently taking the strikers by surprise.

The strikers were questioned at the plant. They were not placed under arrest.

Thomas P. Henry, the proprietor, said the plant would resume operation on an open shop basis and applications for re-employment would be considered.

The Henry plant has been non-union. Recognition of the International Typographical Union is the major issue in the strike.

There were reports at least one other raid on a striker-occupied plant was planned by police today.

MAYOR'S STATEMENT

Mayor Frank Couzens declared the raids would continue on captive plants where the police had reason to believe non-employees were among the occupants. He expressed doubt the workers would follow a leadership that would call a city-wide automotive strike, and said that a strike of workers who were just emerging from the depression would be "inhuman."

The United Automobile Workers also disclosed the organization of "minute men" among members, along military lines, with the avowed purpose of "protecting strikers and the right to strike."

A telegram from U.A.W. officers to twenty-nine Detroit locals said "because of a grave situation created by police and the mayor in attacking the right of strikers throughout the city, the international officers have decided to take decisive steps."

The issue of sole bargaining rights continued today as deadlock negotiations for a settlement of the strike in eight Chrysler Corporation plants here with nearly 80,000 workers idle.

Boston, March 22.—The Captain of the Nova Scotia lumber schooner Irene and Myrtle and two members of his crew were believed today to have lost their lives in storm which swamped their fourteen-foot rowboat.

The missing men, who rowed from the anchored schooner in the height of a driving rainstorm last night, were Capt. Calvin Merriam, Wallace Parker, twenty-three, and George Surrette, twenty.

The water-filled rowboat was found today on the beach.

VATICAN-REICH

EDUCATION FIELD

The Holy Father's letter, read yesterday to astonished churchgoers, brought into the open the national church conflict which the 1933 concordat, dealing principally with Catholic religious education rights, sought to pacify.

The Reich would be fully justified, said the newspaper, in invoking the "clausula rebus sic stantibus," a phrase of international law interpreted generally to mean an agreement remains valid only so long as conditions at its establishment remain the same.

Without mentioning the Pope's communication, the paper attacked the practice of issuing letters, which it said were used to criticize the Reich abroad and bring disunion at home.

PEACE DECLARED FACTOR

"If the preamble of the concordat speaks of permanent regulation of relations between the state and the church, it can never mean a period so long that it endangers the very existence of the state and peace at home and abroad," said the newspaper.

Pope Pius declared in his letter he had signed the concordat, "despite grave misgivings," because he believed it to be in the best interests of the church and the German people.

"If its terms were not kept, that is not the fault of the church," the other side made unfair interpretation of the concordat, evaded its provisions, undermined its contents and finally more or less openly violated its stipulations," said the Pope.

REICH IS BLAMED

Vatican City, March 22.—Pope Pius, in an encyclical epistle to the German bishops, it was disclosed today, placed the blame for any rupture of relations between the Vatican and the Third Reich on the German Government.

Issuance of the encyclical epistle became known here for the first time today when the Vatican Secretariat of State issued a 1,500-word summary of the document which had at first been described as an Apostolic letter.

The Pope charged the 1933 concordat between the Vatican and the Berlin government—in which the separate rights of church and state were set forth—has been destroyed and "rendered intrinsically valueless."

He placed direct blame for destruction of the agreement on the government, asserting "we have done everything to defend the sanctity of the solemnly-plighted word."

At the same time, he expressed hope the conflicting interests of Nazism and the church may be restored to "true peace."

His declaration denounced the "open fight against confessional schools and the suppression of liberty of choice for those who have a right to Catholic education."

DOCTRINE REAFFIRMED

The Vatican's abstract of the encyclical which the Holy Father, under date of March 14, Passion Sunday, directed to all bishops in Germany is described "as a document of high doctrinal value because it reaffirms the doctrine of the Catholic Church against the errors which have been widely diffused in Germany and raised its voice against the persecutions to which the church has been subjected."

But it was also a document inspired by true and understanding benevolence towards the German people, the Vatican said.

Since Chancellor Hitler's rise to power in 1933 there has been constant conflict between Catholicism and the Third Reich.

The focal point of the dispute was the education of Catholic youth. It was this that the concordat of July, 1933, between church and state sought to settle. The concordat provided the church could continue religious instruction of its youth, but that matters of civic education would be left to the state.

Police patrolling the streets yesterday afternoon with riot guns, sub-machine guns and tear gas to enforce a ban against a Nationalist parade, were reported to have opened fire on a rapidly gathering crowd.

The Nationalists, apparently determined to parade as scheduled, were said to have been assembling at Marina and Jobs Streets when a police patrol appeared. A Nationalist was alleged to have fired from the midst of the crowd, wounding a policeman, and general fighting started as the police returned the fire.

POLICEMAN KILLED

One of the seven killed was listed as a policeman by Capt. Felipe Blanco, district chief of police, and five policemen were reported gravely wounded.

Twenty-two Nationalist women and forty-six men were arrested after the rioting had been brought under control.

Butcher Heard
At Inquiry

Canadian Press

Vancouver, March 22.—Alex Shaw, secretary of the Vancouver Master Butchers' Association, told an inquiry into the three-month-old strike of Burns and Company packing plant employees that members of the butchers' organization feared their stores would be picketed if they purchased goods from the Burns Company.

"Had we purchased from them (the Burns Company) our stores would have been picketed," Shaw testified before Judge J. C. McIntosh at the resumed hearing of the inquiry here today. "We did not dare buy from Burns."

Shaw testified his association had recently decided to apply for a charter under the British Columbia Societies Act.

Shaw denied all the retailers had joined Local 95, Meat Cutters' and Packing House Employees' Union, as contended by C. H. Locke, K.C., counsel for the company.

"Some members of the Master Butchers' Association considered themselves as members of the Master Butchers' section of local 95, but I never did myself," Shaw said, "nor did most of the rest of us."

"I personally realize we couldn't belong to the same association as the employees," he said.

C. H. Poston, a member of the Master Butchers' Association, told the inquiry just before noon recess the purpose of his association was to make mass buying possible.

New Debt Bill
In Alberta Soon

Premier Aberhart Says Measure Being Drafted For Legislature; May Cut Principal

Canadian Press

Edmonton, March 22.—Plans for the introduction of new debt reduction legislation in the Alberta Legislature to replace the debt settlement act declared ultra vires by the courts went forward here today.

Premier Aberhart indicated the new legislation would be introduced in the House shortly.

Another measure under consideration of a special committee of Social Credit members is the new Social Credit Bill. It will provide for a Social Credit set-up in Alberta.

granting the administration wide powers for the introduction of its economic programme.

PRINCIPAL REDUCTION

Government sources are silent on the terms of the new debt legislation. The Premier did not discuss them today, only indicating the bill would be before the House shortly.

The old legislation dealt with interest. The new, it is understood, will deal with principal, forecasts placing reductions at as high as 50 per cent.

The Legislature will resume its session tomorrow afternoon immediately after the swearing in of the new Lieutenant-Governor, Captain J. C. Bowen of Edmonton, whose appointment as successor to the late Hon. P. C. H. Primrose was announced in Ottawa today.

BRITISH AIR
BASE CHANGED

Air Services Use Southampton While Portsmouth Headquarters Made Ready

Canadian Press

London, March 22.—Plans for acceleration of air mail service to India and Australia are proceeding rapidly as the first stage of changing the main British base for the services from Croydon to Portsmouth has begun.

Flying boats on Empire air-mail routes to and from England, South Africa and Australia are now arriving and leaving from Southampton. When the new airport at Portsmouth is completed, that will be the base.

By January 1, 1938, a new agreement between Britain and Australia will come into effect under which mail will be flown eventually from England to Sydney, Australia, in seven days against the present twelve-day schedule.

A twice-weekly service will be operated between Britain and Australia, the Commonwealth controlling the Singapore-Sydney section of the route. Australia has agreed to the use of flying boats, instead of land planes as at present, on that section, with the provision that the agreement may be reviewed if they prove unsatisfactory.

Police patrolling the streets yesterday afternoon with riot guns, sub-machine guns and tear gas to enforce a ban against a Nationalist parade, were reported to have opened fire on a rapidly gathering crowd.

The Nationalists, apparently determined to parade as scheduled, were said to have been assembling at Marina and Jobs Streets when a police patrol appeared. A Nationalist was alleged to have fired from the midst of the crowd, wounding a policeman, and general fighting started as the police returned the fire.

Nazis Declare
Christ Aryan

Canadian Press from Havas

Berlin, March 22.—"Jesus Christ was Aryan and anti-Semitic," Julius Streicher's anti-Jewish weekly Der Stürmer will assert in a special Easter number, it was announced today.

The following three arguments are expected to be advanced to the special number as proof Christ was Aryan:

The son of St. Joseph was a carpenter, and no Jew in the world worked at that trade.

Christ was born in Galilee, not in Judea, and there were no Jews in Galilee.

Christ's physiognomy was Aryan, not Jewish.

QUOTA SYSTEM
TO BE RELAXED

Canadian Press

London, March 22.—The British Government, Prime Minister Baldwin informed a deputation today, "attaches the greatest importance to action being taken without delay to relax progressively the present system of quotas and exchange controls with a view to their abolition."

The Prime Minister's statement was contained in a memorandum handed to a deputation representing the signatories of a national memorial on peace and economic co-operation. The memorial appealed for the fullest participation by the British Government in an effort to improve international economic relations in the interests of world peace.

Ex-King's Title Officially Listed

British Great Seal Placed on Dukedom of Windsor
Document

Canadian Press
London, March 22.—The Daily Telegraph today said it was understood that the Duke of Windsor had now passed the Great Seal.

The new dukedom, the paper said, differs from all other dukedoms in that no other titles appertain thereto. No subsidiary title would therefore be available in the case of an heir being born to the Duke unless special provision were made by the crown when such a contingency arose.

Children of former King Edward would be styled His or Her Royal Highness. But, according to the royal proclamation of 1917, when the royal family adopted the name of Windsor, the style Royal Highness or Princess or Princess, was restricted to the children of the sovereign and his grandchildren in the male line.

Therefore grandchildren of the Duke would have only the courtesy title Lord or Lady prefixed to their Christian names and the surname of Windsor. The eldest in the male line eventually would succeed to the dukedom, but others would be known by such names as "Lord David Windsor" and "Lady Mary Windsor" and so on.

Under the auspices of the Victoria Geological Society a lecture will be given in Boys' Central School Wednesday evening by Norman C. Stewart, B.C.L.S., on aerial photo-topographical surveys, particularly on the latest development of aids to geological work in the field by the use of aerial and vertical photographs. The society is arranging a field trip to East Sooke on Easter Monday to study the geology of that area under the guidance of the president, George E. Winkler, to be followed on May 9 by a visit to Mt. Shephard, where the Metochian volcanics are well exposed.

France Takes Over Big Plane Factories

Bleriot and Aeronautical
Corporate Plants Nationalized in New War
Industries Drive

Associated Press
Paris, March 22.—The French government, racing against time to nationalize the country's war industries, took over two of France's largest airplane factories today and ordered expropriation of a third.

In addition to the three plants brought under the Air Ministry, the government ordered nationalization of the "stamping and mechanical construction" company at Caudebec to complete the largest single group of private munitions works to be brought under governmental control at one time.

Today's sweeping decrees left the Renault munitions plant the only major war industry in private hands. The airplane plant orders put into effect one of the final phases of Air Minister Pierre Cot's drive to take over all military airplane accessory factories by April 1.

BLERIOT PLANT TAKEN OVER
Brought under actual control of his production schedule—guarded as a close military secret—was the Bleriot airplane plant at Suresnes and the Aeronautical Corporate Union plant at Begles. The Louis Breguet plane factory at Le Havre already had been decreed for nationalization and the government will take possession in the near future.

The growing list already includes the mammoth Schneider works, producers of the famous seventy-five millimetre guns, the Brandt armory, the Hotchkiss machine gun factory and Le Mans cartridge works. Under the nationalization law to take the profits out of war, enacted August 11, 1936, Premier Blum's government must complete its programme by March 31.

Only the part of the factories devoted to munitions is taken over by the government, with other phases of their operations being left in private hands.

LANDS EXPROPRIATED
In each instance the government expropriates all lands, buildings, material stocks and equipment after an inventory to determine their valuation.

The state permits the owners to retain one-third of the capital stock, with the remaining two-thirds going to the government for a cash price based on the inventory. Although production of the airplane factories is a military secret, it is known they have roughly increased their output 40 per cent over the private ownership production. M. Cot, setting a production schedule of 1,500 airplanes for 1937, expects the increase to be at least 65 per cent when nationalization is complete.

Nine Irishmen Killed in Spain

War Figures Given Out in Dublin Tell of Three Wounded

Canadian Press
Dublin, March 22.—Irish casualties in the Spanish civil war total nine killed and three wounded. Seven of the nine killed were fighting for the Madrid government in the International Column. The other two were with General Owen O'Duffy's "Irish Brigade" which is fighting as the Fifteenth Bandera of the Foreign Legion with General Franco.

Of the wounded, two were the Madrid government forces and the third was with O'Duffy's followers. Figures from the O'Duffy side may not be complete as members of the Foreign Legion are not allowed to refer to casualties when writing home.

PRIEST EXPLAINS
The Basque government is maintaining a Roman Catholic priest, Father Ramon de Laborda, in Ireland to explain why the Basques are fighting against General Francisco Franco. He is touring the country giving lectures, but is being frowned on by the Irish ecclesiastical authorities, who have declined to permit him to exercise priestly functions here. On his first visit to Ireland for the Eucharistic Congress in Dublin in 1932, he was a guest of honor.

BIG THROG AT PARIS FUNERAL

Paris, March 22.—Amid occasional shouts of "Vive la République" and "Fascist assassins!" the radical workers of Paris yesterday buried five young Communists killed in the bloody rioting of last Tuesday night in Clichy, working class suburb of Paris.

Communists and sympathizers numbering 25,000 assembled around the coffins draped in red bunting and placed on a catafalque in Clichy's Sacco and Vanzetti Square, named for the two anarchists executed in Massachusetts in 1927.

The shouts referred to Colonel Francois de la Rocque, leader of the Fascist French-Social Party, arch-enemy of the Communists. Five thousand delegates of labor unions, singing the "Internationale," followed the five hearses six miles across Paris to the burial place.

Italian Prisoners Tell Story In Spain

Fifty-seven Sing Communist
Song as Loyalists Question
Them in Madrid; Say
Guadalajara Defeat Disaster
For Insurgents

Canadian Press from Havas
Madrid, March 22.—Fifty-seven Italian prisoners broke voluntarily into the strains of the Italian Communist song, "Bandiera Rossa" (Red Flag) here Sunday following questioning in which they admitted the defeat of Italian forces in the Guadalajara sector had been a "disaster."

The Italians—among the most recent batch captured on the front northeast of Madrid, where government troops now are waging a victorious counter-offensive—intoned the refrain after listening to a short address by Dolores Ibarruri, fiery Communist deputy known as La Pasionaria.

After singing the Communist anthem, they cried "Long live the Spanish people" and "Long live the Italian people." Their action came as a surprise to leftist authorities and foreign newspapermen assembled in the room where the questioning took place.

MUCH PROPAGANDA
One of the prisoners, who spoke Spanish fluently, recounted his Spanish odyssey. Shortly after leaving Italy—for Bhopal, he believed—he had learned he was being sent to Spain. He accepted because Italian propaganda had stressed the necessity of fighting red propaganda in the Mediterranean.

LANDED AT CADIZ
He said he landed at Cadiz in December, participated in the capture of Malaga and then was dispatched to the Madrid front, firmly believing Madrid would fall as easily as the Mediterranean seaport.

These hopes were partially fulfilled when the Italian contingents made their first successful advance in Guadalajara, but crumbled before the sudden terrible air, tank and infantry attacks of the government, he said.

RETREATED WITH SPEED
"We had to fall back with the utmost speed," he added. "It was a disaster."

According to the prisoners, the insurgent first line in Guadalajara consisted entirely of Italian volunteers, with Spanish troops concentrated considerably to the rear.

Many Starve To Death in China

Famine Sweeps Szechuan
Province; Each Day 200
Die in City of Chungking

Associated Press
Chungking, Szechuan Province, China, March 22.—Two hundred persons are dying of starvation daily in Chungking and its suburbs. It was authoritatively estimated today, as the worst drought in twenty-five years held most of Szechuan, China's most populous province, in its grip. Near-famine conditions prevailed in wide areas of this province of 55,000,000 inhabitants, and relief efforts thus far were almost helpless to cope with the disaster.

Relief workers said about 20 per cent of the dead were opium addicts. Thousands of destitute and starving people have swarmed into Chungking, where four great relief camps have been established on the outskirts.

YANGTZE IS LOW
Large portions of Szechuan have had no rain for a year. Streams have dried up. Even the mighty Yangtze River has been reduced to a trickle. Ship traffic has been suspended above Wansien, intensifying the shortage of food.

At least 10,000 on the verge of death were huddled in the Chungking relief camps. The supply of coffins has been exhausted. Bodies are merely wrapped in straw matting and laid in shallow graves.

Conditions in Chungking are a vivid illustration of what is happening through a large part of the province. Rice paddies have become lifeless cracked clay flats. Highly effective irrigation systems, some of them 2,000 years old, have failed.

Bands of starving peasant grubbing for roots and stripping trees of their bark are a common sight.

Rooms For All London Visitors

Plenty of Accommodation in Hotels and Boarding Houses
During Coronation

Canadian Press
London, March 22.—There will be ample accommodation in London and Greater London for the many thousands of overseas visitors at reasonable prices, according to officials of the Coronation supervision by travel, hotel and restaurant associations of Great Britain.

Their staff of seventy inspectors have completed a survey of more than 70,000 rooms in smaller hotels, boarding houses and private homes which will be rented at prices ranging from $1.25 to as high as $15 per night during the Coronation festivities.

"We have and shall have ample space, but those wishing to come must remember this is not a formal time and not expect Savoy luxury," one official said.

OLD SHRINE IS BESIEGED

Garrison of 1,000 Holds Out Against Spanish Loyalists
at Cabeza

Cordoba, Spain (By Messenger to Paris).—Carrier pigeons have flown here from the besieged mountain shrine of Santa Maria de la Cabeza with word that its garrison of more than 1,000 is holding out in dungeon cellars after more than six months of self-imprisonment from government troops.

For many insurgent Spaniards the defence of the shrine is more epic than that of the Alcazar at Toledo.

Situated in the heart of the rugged Sierra Morena chain of mountains, about twenty miles north of Andujar, the shrine, or sanctuary, is a hardly accessible, monastery-like hermitage.

In recent months, the sanctuary has been bombarded by government planes until it is virtually demolished. Waters released by the besiegers in the opening of a power dam surround it like a natural moat, converting it into an island.

But if the 100-odd civil guards defending the hermitage are isolated from the outside world, along with hundreds of civilian refugees, including many women and children, the sanctuary at least has proved impregnable.

The inhabitants live in caves, dug deep into the mountain. Food and cages of carrier pigeons are dropped almost daily by insurgent planes. For months the refugees have lived in total ignorance of what is happening outside. Unlike the seventy-two-day defenders of the Alcazar, those of the mountain sanctuary have no radio.

Several attempts were made by the government to take the hermitage, but without avail.

Alberta Premier Says Only
People Could Out Him

Canadian Press
Edmonton, March 22.—Definite assurance he would abide by the "will of the people" and not the "will of alarmists" was given by Premier William Aberhart here yesterday evening. Addressing the audience at the Edmonton Prophetic Bible Conference, Mr. Aberhart referred to reports that P. J. Rowe, federal member of parliament for Athabasca, had declared "he would out me from the premiership and either take the job himself or appoint another."

"I would personally be much alarmed if I did not know two facts," said the Premier. "First, I can only be ousted by the will of the people, as when you say and want me out, then I must forthwith retire. Second, when you give me the faintest hint that you want P. J. Rowe or his appointee, I shall not even offer any objection.

"I am persuaded this movement is not of man, but of God; therefore I nor no other individual, can be essential."

The federal member was recently read out of the Social Credit caucus at Ottawa, after criticism of the Aberhart administration. "This is the first time," said Mr. Aberhart, "I ever heard elected members to the Dominion Parliament were to interfere and direct the government of the province and do nothing in the federal department."

ATTEMPTS AT DESTRUCTION
All great reforms to aid the common people, he told his audience, had been accomplished only after betrayers had attempted to destroy the movement.

"Some men," he declared, "cannot resist the opportunity to become great at the expense of their fellowmen. It is characteristic of humanity."

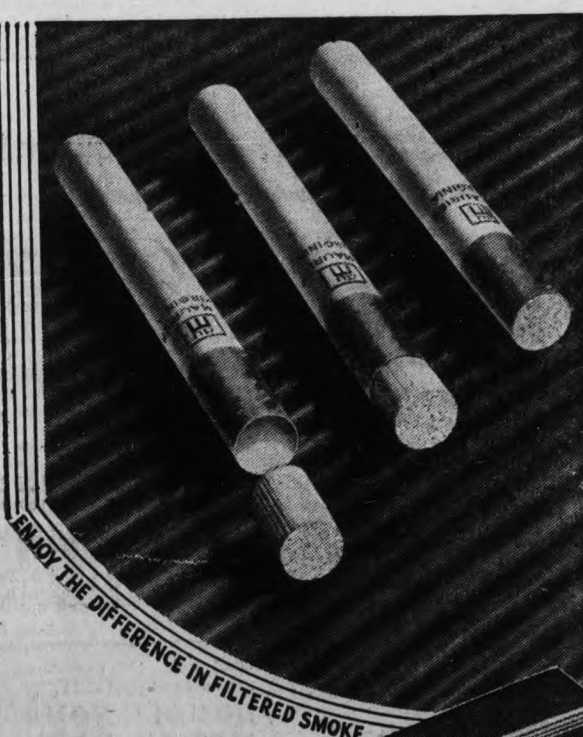

The Premier condemned what he termed the "intrigue" against the government's Trade and Occupations Licensing Bill, now before the Legislature.

LIBERTY PRESERVED
There was no thought of interfering with individual liberty in the carrying out of the new act, he said. The government, he added, would protect the people by licensing where such action was advisable.

"There is no need of licensing occupations or businesses which do not corrupt nor interfere with the welfare of others," he said.

Reports had been spread, he said, that the government intended to license farmers and even housemaids. This he denied.

Courage by Intrigue

UNEASY RUMBLINGS FROM BELOW the surface of Europe indicate that this is a tense and nervous spring. The German army, it is said, has been warned to be ready for any emergency, and the warning is being taken to heart by the people of Hungary, Czechoslovakia, and Austria—who believe, naturally enough, that any activity of the German army is more than likely to be directed at them.

But despite these rumors, there is little belief that any actual invasion is contemplated. The new technique of conquest does not work that way. A modern dictator is just a shade more subtle. In each of the small nations just mentioned there is an active Nazi party. If Hitler in his wisdom should aspire to gobble up one of these countries, it would be this local cell of Nazidom that would do the dirty work. Instead of invasion, there would be a rebellion—a swift, carefully-planned coup d'état, financed and directed from abroad. The German army might indeed mobilize, but it would mobilize simply as a warning, and not in the expectation of doing any actual fighting. Help would be given to the rebels, but it would be sub rosa, unofficial help, of the kind that has been given the rebels in Spain.

As a picture of the danger that Europe faces, this sort of thing is far more discouraging than preparations for outright declarations of war would be. For this is conquest by intrigue, by double-dealing, by bribery and by chicanery, and the mere suspicion of it is fatal to any hope for international harmony or domestic peace.

How can one trust one's neighbor if he is suspected of subsidizing traitors in one's own household? How can one have even a pretence of democratic government if there is reason to suspect that one of the leading parties of one's country is serving the ends of a foreign enemy? What earthly chance does Europe have for a peaceful life if the moles are forever burrowing under the borders like that?

A new internationalism is at work in the world today, poisoning the very air that the people of Europe must breathe. There is the Fascist international and there is the Communist international, each committed to interference with the affairs of its neighbors. War is taking on a new guise, with all the horrors of civil conflict added to the horrors that are inherent in war itself.

What hope is there for the peace of Europe, or even for the salvage of European civilization as long as this state of things endures?

Nazis Carry Trade Threat to the Orient

IN A SUPREME EFFORT TO FACILITATE trade relations between Nazi Germany and Far Eastern countries, the Third Reich has abandoned mailed-fist tactics and is inaugurating an era of skilful and friendly negotiation which may wrest away sizeable portions of American and British trade with the Orient, according to the Far Eastern Survey of the Institute of Pacific Relations.

Pointing out that "German policy in the Far East has become more and more careful to avoid giving offence to national feelings," Dr. Harald von Waldheim, German expert on the Far East, maintains that "although German investments extend to long-term credits, licenses, and limited participation in profits and in management, such investments have in no case gone so far as, for example, that of Ford and General Motors in Japan, where factories entirely owned by the foreign companies engage in production on Japanese soil."

The bulk of German exports to the Far East consists of goods which go directly from the German factory to the Far Eastern customer and do not, like textiles, pass through the hands of a long chain of dealers on both sides, it is stated. The consequence has been, the Survey holds, that German industry has come into close contact with its individual industrial customers in the Far East.

At first, Far Eastern countries financed movement of goods from the German factory onward; later, they concluded agreements on permanent delivery; finally, the actual production of goods was attracted from Germany to the Far East. The highest stage of this development is represented by joint enterprises in which German capital participates, together with that of Japan, Manchuria, China, or the Netherlands. In such partnerships, the German side supplies machinery, patents and technical management; the foreign side land, money and labor, and the foreign interests generally hold 51 per cent or more of the stock.

"No other industrial nation has, willingly or unwillingly, given to the national traders of the country she is dealing with so great a share in the profits of trade. Thus Germany's lack of capital fosters the growth of a national trade organization in the Far Eastern countries," says the survey.

The significance of this trading mechanism is worth emphasizing. Germany's exports to China, Hongkong and Manchukuo have increased from R.M. 37,900,000 in the first half of 1934 to R.M. 65,700,000 in the corresponding period in 1936. Chinese maritime customs figures show that for the whole year 1936, China imported $150,200,000 worth of goods from Germany, as against $103,400,000 in 1935. Germany's share of China's total imports rose in the same period from 11.18 per cent to 15.91 per cent.

A kind of three-cornered trade exists in Germany's trade relations with Manchukuo and Japan. By an agreement of April, 1936, an attempt was made to balance this trade on a ratio of 1 to 4 as between Japan and Germany and 4 to 1 as between Manchukuo and Germany. If, for example, Japan imports Yen 115,000,000 from Germany and exports Yen 35,000,000 to Germany (as she did in 1936), leaving an import balance of Yen 80,000,000, then the trade between Germany and Manchukuo should in principle show an export balance of Yen 80,000,000 in Manchukuo's favor. By such agreements, Germany has apparently succeeded in nearly balancing her Far Eastern trade and in overcoming the handicap of a lack of capital.

"On the whole, the theory that Germany is the natural political friend and economic ally of the nations of Asia which are rising to industrial independence seems to fit actual developments," Dr. Waldheim concludes. "Germany's trade with the Far East is increasing and, if peace continues, she will be able to regain the ground lost during the depression."

No Escape From Publicity

THE CHARGE OF COLLUSION HAS been dismissed by the British divorce court, the King's Proctor has abandoned the "three matters he had in mind," and the way has thus been cleared for Mrs. Wallis Simpson to obtain her absolute decree of divorce on April 29 in preparation for her marriage to the Duke of Windsor. Under a reported agreement this marriage is not to take place until after the coronation of ex-King Edward's successor.

In the report published by The Philadelphia Record that the Duke of Windsor has leased a house near Baltimore for himself and Her Presumptive Grace, Duchess Wally, The New Republic sees an interesting question in journalistic procedure raised. The privacy-shattering activities of the press on this side of the Atlantic, and particularly the more sensational wings thereof, are generally credited with having driven air hero, Colonel Lindbergh, to seek refuge in England. Now the direction may be reversed, with Britain's popular hero said to be planning to outwit British and continental pressmen by coming to America.

"Do Edward and Wallis think the American gutter press has lost its virility?" The New Republic asks. "Do they fondly imagine that if Europe's attentions proved unbearable, they can 'take it' in America? As this great experiment in a kind of exchange scholarship for journalistic exiles appears imminent, we must sorrowfully record our opinion that a mixture of drool and mud can be brewed and slung just about as ably on one side of the Atlantic as the other."

"Fascist Courage and Daring"

RECENT NEWS PROVES AGAIN that foreign propaganda and censorship tend more toward the ridiculous than the sublime.

Fascist newspapers, for instance, have claimed famed "Buffalo Bill" as a local boy. The Iowa-born plains hero, they reveal, was really a native of Barbignarezzo, Italy, and was "full of Fascist courage and daring."

The other day a huge wave swept over the Italian liner Rex, killing two persons. As Italian papers were ordered to print not a line of the incident, it is apparent that it was sought to give Il Duce's subjects the impression that even Neptune dares not be aggressive in the presence of anything Fascist.

Italian newspapers have been playing up advances of the Franco insurgents in Spain as "glorious victories for the gallant Italian army." We are anxious to learn just how they are handling the news of the rout of the insurgents by the beleaguered Spanish loyalists at the end of last week, when this "gallant Italian army" turned its back and ran for twenty or more miles—and, apparently, has not stopped yet.

Notes

The radio people have explained all of their sound effects except the sound of sugar in the announcer's voice.

Strikes are a normal phenomenon of returning prosperity. When we see a melon cut, it always makes us want a slice.

Spain has enslaved, robbed, tortured and butchered millions down through her history, and it may be that Nemesis is just catching up with her work.

General Goering has told Germany she must economize in oils and fats. If she does not, it may eventually be necessary to render General Goering.

One of the worst dilemmas with which a judge has to contend arises when he is compelled to sentence, for a short term, a person who is not a criminal at heart, for a minor infraction of the law. Justice demands that the offender be jailed for a period; and yet this penalty automatically may carry with it a greater one—loss of his job. In Rochester, N.Y., a law is being tried out that may erase this problem. It calls for "week-end" sentences. A man arrested for intoxication, for example, may be ordered to spend the following three Saturdays and Sundays in the county jail. In this way, he is punished, and yet undergoes no risk of the loss of his job or earnings. If the plan is successful, it is said, legislation will be drawn to make it applicable in other communities. It seems to be an experiment that law authorities generally might do well to study.

Loose Ends

One leaves Ottawa without much regret—because a hothouse grows tiresome after a while—and one is always in danger, in the intellectual sense, of becoming an orchid.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

OTTAWA.

HOTHOUSE

ONE LEAVES OTTAWA with a certain relief, like a man leaving a well-kept hothouse and getting into the fresh air. Ottawa is a hothouse and many of its most attractive growths are orchids which can survive only in a high temperature and with the greatest care. In fact, Ottawa, speaking in an entirely non-partisan sense, is much too orchidaceous to be the capital of a rough, tough young country like Canada.

It is easy to be absorbed into the official hothouse of Ottawa. Few men survive it. In an intellectual sense they become orchidaceous very quickly and seldom can stand intellectual frost and rain any more.

This is not due to any particular sinfulness of the capital. The House of Commons, in fact, is probably as moral and straightlaced a group of men as you could ask for. There is no management wickedness such as the movies have given Washington; no glorious stunts which lure state secrets from fat old prairie statesmen; no dramas of blackmail and seduction, but rather an intolerable respectability, a dullness which numbs the heart.

But, just the same, you realize after two weeks in the hothouse that you are losing your hardness, that you must get into the open air again without delay if you are to repossess your native spirit and independence. There is a tremendous, invisible oppression about the place, a kind of official pall that hangs over everything and crushes the independent mind little by little, unobtrusively, courteously, kindly; but crushes it just the same.

YOUNG MEN

THAT EXPLAINS why you see so few men rise to any heights in Parliament, why the young men are usually held down until they are no longer young and their ideas have aged and atrophied. The young man comes down here bursting with ideas, swelling with a fine eagerness to serve his country, but Ottawa soon absorbs him. It doesn't threaten him. It doesn't abuse or intimidate. It smiles indulgently, listens patiently, and goes plodding along in its own way.

The young man must either follow or revolt. If he follows he may get somewhere, too, when he is old enough. If he revolts, he seldom gets anywhere. The shouting, fire-eating rebel is the least of Ottawa's troubles. It absorbs that kind of man with ease, swallows him up, digests him without discomfort.

The more they talk, the more they protest, the easier it is for Ottawa, because when men make trouble they immediately lose their friends. Fellows who sympathize with him in silence, behind the brown velvet curtains, fall away immediately when the rebel becomes articulate and threatens to violate the canons of discipline. The rebel ceases to be a rebel, a crusader, and becomes a mere talker, a bore. And once a man is labeled as a bore, no matter how brilliant his speeches, no matter how sound his ideas, no matter how strong his character, he might as well quit. He can scream his head off and Parliament will smile, patiently, like an old man listening to the play of children, and will go its own way.

APPRENTICES

THAT IS WHY PREMIERS are not made out of rebels. They are invariably men who have worked their way up from the ranks. The young men know that; know that they must undergo a long period of apprenticeship before they can aspire to cabinet rank, that for the first term of office they are merely learning their trade, as an aged senator told me "at the country's expense."

This is a sound arrangement because no man is fit to govern in a modern state without specialized education, a careful training in the most complicated of modern professions. But just the same, much talent is worn out, exhausted, obliterated, lost by this process. Many a fine and vigorous plant from the open spaces becomes soft and orchidaceous in this hothouse and is never any more use, except for decoration.

Ottawa is an interesting place for the Canadian to come to, briefly. But he should not stay too long.

CROWN JEWELS AND THE CORONATION

From a London Correspondent

LONDON.

THE WEEK publishes the statement that "despite optimistic forecasts and discreet Palace boosting of the numbers expected for the Coronation, there is, in fact, considerable apprehension as to whether there will be as big a crowd as has been so persistently semi-officially anticipated."

This usually highly authoritative and notably well-informed weekly review goes on: "In particular there is some doubt as to whether the Dominions will provide their quota of overseas visitors. One Dominion office had not until the end of last week disposed of a single one of the Coronation seats allotted to it, although some of these were at prices as low as fifteen shillings. A block of West-end flats, ideally suited for lavish Coronation entertainment, at present empty and reserved for the festivities, have not as yet been booked up. Secondly, though souvenirs of the Duke of Windsor have had a ready sale, there has as yet been little demand for similar favors depicting the present Monarch and Queen."

"Further factor seriously perturbing those organizing the Coronation, is the fact there may be open trouble between the present Court party and the Duke of Windsor over the jewels presented by her. It is this matter which is causing the present hurried journeys to the Schloss Ernstfeld. It is understood that the Duke considers that undesirable pressure was brought to bear on Mrs. Simpson in order that she should return to the Royal Family jewels which he contends were his own personal property to dispose of as he liked. He has therefore replaced the jewels in question with others of a similar value. As their cost was considerable the question of who will pay for them may attain political importance."

SLIGHT MISTAKE

From The New York Post

When, on the occasion of a new theatre opening in Stockton, California, movie bigwigs asked Greta Garbo to go there for a personal appearance, they were staggered when Garbo said yes—she'd never done a thing like that before. And then it all came out that Greta thought they said Stockholm, not Stockton.

The penalty for being sensitive is that everybody seems to think you a great fellow when you like yourself, but everybody seems to scorn you when you are ashamed of something.

MURIEL CLAXTON, R.N.

An Appreciation by Corry Wood
The sad news of the death of Miss Claxton has come as a great shock to her many friends, especially in Victoria and the Cowichan area.

For the last six years Miss Claxton has been in charge of the Red Cross Outpost Hospital north of the Peace River, and to the sisters of that district, the loss of their nurse, counselor and friend will be keenly felt. For the last year she has been in charge of the Gough Memorial Hospital but by the Society of the Maple Leaf, and operated by the Red Cross Society. This outpost is situated north of the North Pine or Boston River, and was built at Miss Claxton's request, as the settlers were entirely without medical or nursing service.

As commissioner of the Red Cross Society for five years, I had every opportunity of knowing the splendid self-sacrificing work which she did. The story of this wonderful little follower of Florence Nightingale can never be adequately told. The weather was never too cold, or the roads and trails too bad, for her to answer a call for help.

I am sure the sympathy of all friends of the Red Cross will go out to the settlers who have suffered the loss of such a friend.

NO SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA DEFEATIST

To the Editor:—Regarding the letter of Mr. Hinton, secretary of the Cathedral orchestra relative to the recent article by your musical critic, Mr. George Dyke, about the formation of a Victoria symphony orchestra, one gathers the opinion that while through co-operation and willingness to set aside all denominational and personal prejudices, it has been possible to form the Cathedral orchestra, Mr. Hinton is of the opinion that any efforts towards the cultivation of musical art as a civic enterprise is doomed to absolute failure.

No one will question that all the small orchestras in this city are doing excellent work; they are splendid training centres. But they do not represent their city, and individualistic as they are, an opportunity is being lost in not being able to take the best talent in all these units and under one leadership produce something that Victoria could be proud of. This, I am sure, was the idea that Mr. Dyke tried to convey.

It hardly seems logical, coming from one who talks of unity and co-operation, to hear that writer make a statement that any further effort to centralize our musical talent is not likely to succeed.

Pie, Mr. Hinton, remember the world does not stand still. Every race on earth is striving towards something better in life, something that will be of benefit to the masses. Nothing worth while should "wait for the years to come," as you express it; those who are afraid to tackle something worth while for the good of all should not throw cold water on the efforts of those who want to go onward to better things.

Sometimes in the course of progress, much as we may not like it, some of those who have been supreme in our own little kingdom become merged into the masses. Yet, if we are sincere in life, want to help along all good ideas, especially those that will add to the fair name of our city, we should sink personal glorification and give our heart and soul towards helping along a good cause.

NORMAN POSTER.

"THE COUNTRY NOW SAFE"

To the Editor:—Once again we breathe freely. The country is safe. Those young miscreants in Quarryville, N.B., who refused on religious grounds to salute the flag, etc., have been "expelled" from school and can no longer poison the minds of the loyal boys and girls.

In all or most parts of Canada we are familiar with cases of Catholics in Protestant schools, and of Protestants in Catholic schools exempted without question from taking part in religious exercises. But in this case the sect is small, doesn't count in elections, and so we automatically tyrannize over them. Two hundred years ago Voltaire wrote to a man whose views were likely to be suppressed: "I do not believe a word you say, but will fight to the death for your right to say it." Tolerance and fair play are more important than a thousand flags and a million na-

Better English

Words often misused: Do not say "We started the work yesterday." Say, "We began the work yesterday." Often mispronounced: Illustrator. Accent second syllable, not the first. Often misspelled: Dying (expiring); dyeing (coloring). Synonyms: Gratify, satisfy, indulge, please, humor.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: Farfical; pertaining to farce; ludicrous; unreal. "They deny the characters to be farfical, because they are actually in nature."—Gay.

Stamp News

By I. S. Klein

It now definitely has been decided to issue Coronation commemorative stamps, similar in size to those of the late King George's Jubilee, for Great Britain's forty-five colonies. There will be three values for each colony. The stamps will bear the portraits of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, in a setting of Coronation emblems. There will be no bi-colors, and the names of the colonies will mark the only difference among the stamps.

In addition, the dominions and other possessions are planning Coronation sets of varying types and values. The stamps will be on sale from May 12 to December 31.

The Boulder Dam stamp has been withdrawn from sale at the phil. agency in Washington.

Canal Zone has ordered a new 14c stamp from Washington to replace the current American Indian stamp of that value, with the "Canal Zone" overprint. The only remaining U.S. overprinted stamps in this territory will be the 17c Wilson and 30c Blson.

Russia has prepared two new sets of stamps. One, in two designs and six values, commemorates the centenary of the death of A. S. Pushkin, famous Russian poet. The other set is in eight values, each illustrating a famous Russian structure.

Present Fine Irish Concert

Many members were present Saturday night when the Army and Navy Veterans local unit No. 12 staged a St. Patrick's Day smoking concert in the clubrooms, under the chairmanship of Harry Winter.

The feature on the programme was the act of Jack Patrick, seventy-three years old. He gave an exhibition of club swinging, muscular control and feats of strength, and was accorded hearty applause from the audience. Patrick is a Sandow gold medal winner.

Other artists taking part on the programme were: Bert White, Tom Lavery, Ed Green, John Haper, Kenora, Ont.; Jack Rivers, Bob Amerson, W. Smith, Ray Hunt, Tom Burke, Al Prescott and Ted Prescott.

Irish souvenirs were distributed at the start of the show, which was acclaimed a great success.

Many From Here Attend Reunion

Thirty-seven members from Victoria attended the annual reunion banquet of the Sixty-seventh Battalion, Western Scots, at the Plaza Hotel in Nanaimo Saturday evening. A delegation of twenty was present from Vancouver, and the remainder of the ninety-three guests were from Nanaimo and other island cities.

W. Galperin Brice was chairman, and introduced Mayor J. Barsby of Nanaimo, who welcomed members of the battalion to the city.

Col. Lorne Ross and Major A. E. Christie spoke briefly, and Major Stanley Okell read letters and telegrams expressing the felicitations of absent members. T. Barnard, Nanaimo, past president of the provincial command of the Canadian Legion, also gave an address.

The next annual banquet will be held in Victoria on the nearest Saturday to March 24, next year.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today

MARCH 22, 1912

(From The Times Files)
An ever-increasing amount of interest is now being taken in the forthcoming special municipal elections, and speculation is keen as to who will be Mayor Morley's opponent. That he will be opposed is said to be a certainty. Meanwhile rumor is busy with the names of F. A. Pauline, who has already seen service at the council board, and H. B. Thomson, M.P.P. Mr. Thomson is understood to take the position that he would only consent to become a candidate in the event of Mr. Pauline refusing the nomination.

Over 500 are at present employed by the city works being executed on the day labor basis. Large quantities of water pipes are being laid in various parts of the city. The sewerage extension work is being vigorously prosecuted and a new public wharf is in course of construction at the foot of Erie Street in James Bay.

In furtherance of the cleaning-up programme recently inaugurated by the medical health officer, 150 buildings have been marked for condemnation because of their insanitary condition, or because they constitute a menace to surrounding property. It will be necessary to secure an order from the court in each case, and the applications to this end will be made next week by the city solicitor.

W. E. Scott, deputy minister of agriculture, left this morning for the mainland to join the farm demonstration train which the Washington State Agricultural College is sending into British Columbia to visit Fruitvale, Salmo, Ymir and Nelson. At the conclusion of the visit Mr. Scott will visit the Nicola district to select demonstration orchard sites.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Mrs. Alfred Watt
Ends World Tour

Canadian Press
London, March 22.—Mrs. Alfred Watt, formerly of Victoria, B.C., who introduced women's institutes to the United Kingdom, and is president of the Associated Countrywomen of the World, has returned to England after traveling 100,000 miles and attending 300 mass meetings, 200 government banquets and "50,000 handshakes."

Mrs. Watt visited Canada, the United States, Australia, New Zealand, Ceylon and Palestine, traveling to her meeting by plane, bullock cart, canoe, rickshaw and victoria, and coming in contact with more than 1,000,000 women.

She found dark-skinned Singalese and Hawaiian women absorbed in the task of improving plantation life for the workers and introducing domestic science into rural schools. Radio has played a prominent part in helping women escape drudgery and isolation, she said.

"A new type of woman is evolving everywhere," Mrs. Watt said. "She is avid for facts about world affairs and is no longer satisfied with the sugar-coated knowledge for women only."

Despite the tradition of the lack of solidarity among women, Mrs. Watt declares that she has found women in every country better organized than men, and much more effective at co-operation. She is looking forward to the next triennial conference of the Countrywomen of the World in London in 1939. Ten thousand women are expected to attend.

Sees Trouble Looming In India

London Woman Tells Of Menace To World Peace

Special Correspondence
London—The political situation in India is "now as grave a menace to the peace of the world as any today," according to Miss Agatha Harrison, who has just returned to London after a four months tour of India in connection with the work of the All-India Women's Conference.

Speaking at the annual council meeting of the British section of the Women's International League at the Y.W.C.A. headquarters here, Miss Harrison appealed for a greater understanding of the needs of India—especially in view of the new constitution which comes into force on April 1.

Describing the recent elections, she said, little short of a miracle could save the situation now as "in six out of the eleven provinces a majority has been returned to power pledged to break the new constitution."

In view of this position, a resolution passed by the council has particular interest. It urges the government to initiate action through the League of Nations for the setting-up of an international commission for discussing national grievances. It was also suggested that a new world peace conference should be called.

Urging support for the scheme, Miss Mary Shephards, of the executive committee, said: "If Germany and Italy were made to believe that they could get the raw materials and markets they want by arbitration, I believe this would cut out the cause of the aggressiveness of these two countries."

THIS IS WHY

MECCA OINTMENT IS SO DIFFERENT—SO SAFE—SO SURE—SO MUCH PREFERRED IN CANADIAN HOMES OF ALL CLASSES FROM COAST TO COAST

Mecca has its own individual process of healing and pain relieving

- First—The application of Mecca removes pain and smart and soreness that brings almost instant relief to the sufferer, thus lessening shock to the general nervous system.
- Then—Its antiseptic properties proceed to cleanse and purify the wound—preventing infection.
- Then—It arrests inflammation and further destruction of the tissues.
- Then—It is quickly absorbed by the tissues which carry its medicinal properties right to the seat of the injury.
- Then—It acts as a nutrient or feeder to the injured parts, assisting nature to heal quickly.

Then Mothers write in grateful praise:
"My daughter's leg was scalded from knee to ankle with boiling water. Old fashioned treatments did not lessen the pain. I had heard that Mecca Ointment was effective on burns, so bought a tin and applied as directed. The pain seemed to cool and ease at once. I kept fresh supplies on hand and the burn healed quickly without pus and left no scar."

Mecca is probably one of the most popular and most frequently used of all household remedies. There is always someone in the house running into slight accidents or skin abrasions. HUNGRY ADOLESCENT SHOULD HAVE PROPER DIET

Because of the unbalanced state of the glandular system, because children during the adolescent years often exhibit and indulge in unbridled appetite, it is not uncommon for these years to be marked by considerable over-weight.

But Mrs. L. P. thinks her thirteen-year-old son is too much overweight. "He is only five feet four inches tall and weighs 156 pounds. When I speak of a diet to my friends they tell me that he should eat all he wants to at this age because it is a growth period. Is this true?"

"He can't run very far or fast without puffing and growing tired. But he is strong enough to play basketball with a team composed of men. He has had several attacks of pain about the heart which the doctor tells me are due to indigestion and gas. He is very fond of meat and always eats what I consider too much food. Would you give me some advice about a diet?"

The results of over-eating and of over-weight are all too obvious. It isn't natural for a child of thirteen to puff and grow weary when he runs and indigestion and gas from over-eating are far from desirous symptoms, however, harmless they may seem at the moment. He isn't contributing to his growth by over-eating and laying on great burdens of fat, in fact, such obesity inhibits the activities which should be part of his experiences.

Let him satisfy his appetite (which is probably excessive now) on foods which won't contribute to his weight. Give him meat, eggs, fish, cheese or fowl twice daily, one piece of bread and butter with each meal and one potato a day. Give him all the fresh and cooked vegetables and fruits he wants to eat. Let him drink one quart of natural buttermilk instead of milk with cream. Or if he dislikes buttermilk, use skimmed milk. He won't be denied one essential element and he'll appreciate the feeling of nimbleness which will come from decreasing weight.

The ordinary diet for the adolescent is included in the leaflet of that name which may be had for a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine Department of this newspaper.

HER NAME IN LIGHTS

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When DAPHNE BRETT, look her younger sister, JENNIFER, under her in an effort to launch her on a successful career in New York, difficulties immediately arose between the two. Jennifer resented any such interest and promptly decided Daphne. She was ready to close with TUCKER ANSLEY, wealthy playboy, and would have eloped had not Daphne stepped in in time to prevent the wedding. Next, Jennifer had made a play for the affections of LARRY SMITH, attractive young architect, with whom Daphne is in love.

Weeks dragged on in which the sisters became increasingly estranged. Then Daphne sent Jennifer to a shore resort for vacation and Jennifer met GORDON BEEZEE, famous theatre producer. Immediately she found a new interest in this field and seemed to lose her old bitterness.

At the same time Daphne, who has been asked by Larry to become his wife, is sent on a two-months' sales trip across the continent. Happily, because she knows this will give her enough money to see Jennifer safely started, she calls Larry.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVIII

"So, I'm selfish, am I?" Larry placed a box of white flowers on Daphne's table, fished a box of candy from one pocket, a toy dog from another and from an inside pocket, took out a very small, white box.

"I didn't mean it. I didn't mean it. I didn't mean it," Daphne said and slipped from his arms. "You're the sweetest, most generous person in the world and I love the dog. I've always wanted one just like this."

"But why don't you put him down and give me a little of your attention while I tell you my news?"

"Consider it all yours but first I want to know if you are going to marry me to marry you because if you are..."

"I'm not as a matter of fact. I'm telling you that you are going to marry me."

"Oh, so that's the way it is! You're going to be a magnificent brute, are you? Well, listen to me."

"I thought I had the floor."

She looked pretty subdued.

"You are not only going to marry me tomorrow. Hand in hand we are going down..."

She captured one of those hands. "Darling," she pleaded, "don't lose your breath. Take it easy and think what this all means."

"It means that we are going to build castles in Spain."

"That's exactly what it sounds like to me. You're very lucid, Mr. Smith."

"If you'll sit on my knee, I'll be very lucid. There! Well, I'm—we're sailing for Spain on Friday. You and I, Mr. and Mrs. Smith. Is that clear?"

"Not very. Hadn't you heard there is a war in Spain?"

"Yes, but not all of Spain is battle-field. The point is that our firm is going to bid in on the Spanish Village for the next World's Fair and I'm going over to look around and get some ideas. And you're going with me. Darling, we'll stand on the road to Granada and look across to the shores of Africa. We'll see the twilight that falls at midnight. We'll..."

Daphne took a deep breath as though she were about to plunge into something very cold. "Larry, must you go now? Can't you put it off another two months?"

He appeared puzzled. "But why should I? Things are getting hotter in Spain and I want to get over and get my stuff before it is too late. Two months from now it may be."

Daphne got off his lap and walked over to a table. She fingered the petals of the white blossoms.

"Larry, don't you think it would be better if you went alone? Then, when you've got everything... I mean your material, we could... I have had a real wedding and a honeymoon."

Silence. Perplexed silence.

"Don't you want to go, Daphne?" Very quickly she said, "Of course I do but..."

"Are you going to give me any more of that line about your responsibilities and not being able to afford a wife?"

"Oh, no," she said and took two of the flowers from the bowl. She studied the effect carefully.

"Can you give me any good reason why you don't want to go?"

"No," she said. "Only..."

Silence. Hurt silence.

She put the flowers back in the bowl. "Larry, please don't ask me why, only please don't ask me to marry you before you go. I'll marry you later if you still want me to."

"Daphne!"

She couldn't answer that cry. She knew if she did she'd tell him her real reason and she didn't want him to know that. She didn't want him to know that she had to have that money before she could marry him. Better for him to wait a little while without knowing.

"Yes, Larry," she said after a while. "Don't you want to tell me why you want me to wait?"

"Well," she said brightly. "You know my job... that is, you know how hard I've been working on the Georgian account?"

He didn't say anything.

"Larry, my campaign has been approved. That is, the one suggesting the tour across the country. Now, they seem to feel that I know more about it than anyone else and so they want me to manage it. That means that I will have to go."

"I see," he said tonelessly. "You can't, of course, let your agency down."

Canada Will Send 273 to Coronation

Several Victoria and Vancouver Men Included in Army-Navy-Air Force Contingent; Commander Is Col. J. E. L. Streight, M.P. For West York, Ont.

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 22.—A total of 273 officers and other ranks, representing all arms of the Canadian militia, navy and air forces, will be commanded by Col. J. E. L. Streight, Liberal M.P. for West York, Ont., in the contingent which Canada will send to the Coronation. This is just slightly more than one-third of the party which represented this country at the Coronation of the late King George V.

Second in command of the contingent, according to the announcement made at the week-end by Defence Minister Ian Mackenzie, will be Lieut.-Col. R. E. Fafard of Matane, Que.

More than half of the Coronation personnel are men who have seen active service. A total of 156 out of the 273 are veterans of the Great War. The announcement said other members of the staff would be appointed later.

The selections, tabulated from each military district, and excluding the other services, show the overwhelming proportion of those in the contingent are lower than commissioned rank:

SOCIETY SEES RUSSIAN FILM

Group Holds Second Showing at Oak Bay Theatre

With nearly 400 persons attending, the Victoria Branch of the National Film Society of Canada held its second monthly showing in the Oak Bay Theatre yesterday afternoon.

Designed to present pictures not normally available commercially, especially the productions of countries other than the United States, the society gave a well-balanced programme of four films of four nationalities.

The chief item on the programme was "Deserter," produced in the Soviet Union in 1934 and directed by Pudovkin, whose screen theories have been widely copied in other countries.

Highly naive in story and elementary in propaganda, "Deserter" is interesting chiefly by the directorial style of Pudovkin. Using closeups of men and machines almost exclusively, with the exception of a few shots of dockyards and street fighting, and employing a succession of exceedingly short takes to stress action, the technique becomes rather monotonous after the first half-hour and decidedly so after the first hour.

The story is that of a man who stays away from the picket line during a strike in a German shipyard because of laziness, then repents and is accepted back as a good worker after he has been sent on a delegation to the Soviet Union.

A good conception of the architecture and life of Berlin was given by a two-reel German documentary picture, "It Differed from the general run of travelogues in that the ordinary traffic and people in the streets had as much part in the film as the usual closeups and visits of buildings."

"Weather Forecast," produced by the British General Post Office film unit, was the same type of beautifully-directed documentary picture as "Night Mail," shown at the society's first programme a month ago. Lacking the atmosphere of the other picture, "Weather Forecast" made up for it by superb photography of sea and shore.

"How to Play Croquet," the final item on the programme, was one of Robert Benchley's mock-serious lectures, produced in the United States last year.

POLICE COSTS INVESTIGATED

City Commissioners May Seek Government Aid on Certain Budget Items

Certain costs borne by the City Police Commission which are carried by the provincial government in Alberta for the Calgary and Edmonton police departments are now under consideration by Mayor Andrew McGarvin and members of the City Police Commission.

The items include appropriations for transportation of prisoners, coroners' inquests and medical charges for attendance at accidents.

In the city's estimates for this year the following allocations are made for these respective charges: Transportation of prisoners, $1,200; inquests and medical service, $1,000.

Another matter to be taken up is the cost of prisoners' meals. In Edmonton this charge is 9c a meal, while in Victoria the cost is 25c a meal.

In letters from the Calgary and Edmonton police departments it is explained that the government bears the full cost of prisoners' transportation and inquests and medical fees.

Copies of the letters have been forwarded to the mayor and commissioners, and it is expected that some action toward having the matter placed before the government will be taken when the board estimates come up for consideration.

L. H. Macklin, M.A., head secretary and chief executive of the Associated Board of the Royal Schools of Music, London, who is now in Canada, will arrive in Victoria next week, it was announced today by Dr. Richard Felton. Dr. Felton said arrangements had been made for an informal reception for Mr. Macklin next Thursday from 8 to 10:30 p.m. in the Queen Charlotte Room of the Empress Hotel. Mr. Macklin will remain in Victoria until next Saturday. "At homes" are being arranged for him for Friday and Saturday.

RUSE DECEIVES DEFENCE

Declarer's Play Directs Opponent Away From Suit That Would Have Defeated His Contract

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY

It does not always pay to take a trick cheaply. Occasionally a situation arises at the bridge table where the declarer should be willing to pay much more for the trick than he is required to do. Today's hand is just such an example. It was played by James Grifuss of Milwaukee.

Mr. Grifuss, seeing that a shift to another suit would defeat his contract, avoided the shift by a clever ruse. This fooled the defender in the west into continuing a suit which gave Mr. Grifuss his contract.

SOLUTION TO PREVIOUS CONTRACT PROBLEM

When the opening lead of the six of spades was made, declarer could see that his chief worry was the diamond suit. He must take a finesse in clubs, and there was grave danger that, if this failed, West might then shift to diamonds, and defeat the contract.

He wanted to encourage the continuation of the spade suit, if West won the club. So, when East played the jack, South unhesitatingly won the trick with the ace, although the queen would have been high enough. Now a heart was led to dummy's ace and the club finesse taken.

West won, but not appreciating South's splendid strategy, he returned a small spade, naturally placing his partner with the queen. South won, cashed four clubs and two more hearts, giving him his contract.

South's unnecessary play of the ace to the first trick was very fine. Otherwise West almost certainly would have shifted to the diamond suit and defeated the contract.

Today's Contract Problem

South's contract is six spades. After the opening lead, he is permitted to enter dummy with the small trump, discarding a losing diamond on the king of hearts. The second diamond lead shows that diamonds cannot be established. Should he now take the club finesse?

queen would have been high enough. Now a heart was led to dummy's ace and the club finesse taken.

West won, but not appreciating South's splendid strategy, he returned a small spade, naturally placing his partner with the queen. South won, cashed four clubs and two more hearts, giving him his contract.

South's unnecessary play of the ace to the first trick was very fine. Otherwise West almost certainly would have shifted to the diamond suit and defeated the contract.

Debt Adjustment Is Watched Here

Cancellation by the Dominion Government of $18,764,508 of Manitoba and Saskatchewan treasury bills was noted at the Legislative Buildings on Saturday, but Premier Pattullo withheld any comment upon the matter until he is fully acquainted with details.

The write-down was explained from Ottawa as the Dominion Government's contribution to a programme of adjusting indebtedness of farmers in the drought areas.

British Columbia owes the Dominion roughly $30,500,000 on treasury bills, most of the money having been borrowed to care for heavy unemployment relief bills. This province has long taken the position that unemployment relief is a prime responsibility of the Dominion. The suggestion has been that it might seek an adjustment on its borrowings as recognition.

OPEN SOOKE HALL APRIL 9

Sooke, March 22.—Sooke Community Recreation Hall, built by community effort, will be officially opened on April 9.

It was three years ago that the Sooke Community Association decided to build a hall for public meetings, socials, concerts, basketball games and other activities of the district. Actual construction was started last fall.

The first annual Sooke Day was held in 1934 and each year since the proceeds have been set aside for the hall funds.

The sum of $5,250 has been spent to date for the property and construction work. The exterior and interior lining has yet to be completed and a permanent heating system installed. The total cost is expected to reach about $10,000.

H. W. Goodrich is president of the Sooke Community Association, C. A. Heigsen, vice-president, and A. E. Brownsey, secretary.

Halibut Board For B.C. Set

Government Approves Marketing Plan for Coast Fishing Industry

The halibut fishing industry of British Columbia was brought under marketing control today when the provincial government set up the Halibut Marketing Board to regulate the distribution of fish caught by the Canadian fleet.

The board consists of five members, a captain and a crew member representing the Prince Rupert fleet and similar representation from the Vancouver fleet, with a chairman named by the Prince Rupert members. First chairman is Simon M. D. Macdonald, and the Prince Rupert members are Ole Stegavig and Einar Larsen. The Vancouver members have yet to be chosen. Fishermen members of the board will be represented by deputies when they are at sea. Merrill Sollows is named to act for Stegavig and George Anderson for Larsen. They hold office until December 31.

The board is required to hold a poll before June 15 on whether the scheme should be continued or not.

TENS of thousands of Canadian homes and farms benefit from first mortgage loans made possible by the accumulated savings of Life Insurance policyholders.

For every borrower, there are six thrifty people who supply the necessary funds.

This fact affords a striking illustration of the "double duty" performed by Life Insurance dollars. Not only do they ensure financial security for the men, women and children of Canada, but they also help to build and finance their homes and farms.

Life Insurance companies exercise the greatest care in the selection of properties upon which mortgage loans are made. To safeguard the savings of policyholders, security of principal and interest is and must always be the first consideration.

sales are soaring!

ACTUAL PHOTOGRAPH

THE two always go together when Canada goes to buy its automobiles... the less a car costs to run the more readily it sells! In February, Studebaker sales went 'way ahead of February, 1936... in fact, they beat last year's high mark by fifty-nine per cent.

And that sensational sales advance stems straight from the new 1937 Studebaker's remarkable economy which equals and often better the best showing of the smaller lowest priced cars!

The 1937 Studebaker is the world's first car to offer the dual economy insurance of the Fram oil cleaner and the gas-saving automatic overdrive! World's first car to offer the double safety of the built-in automatic hill holder and feather-touch hydraulic brakes! And the world's only car with non-slam doors that close lightly, tightly and silently on exclusive rattle-proof rotary latches!

Before you buy any new car, you will be smart to drive a new Studebaker and find out why it's called Canada's spotlight car of the year!

Letters To the Editor

A VICAR ON SOCIAL CREDIT

To the Editor:—Messrs. Luff and Bird, in maintaining the Socialist position against Social Credit expounded by Mr. Averill, quite fail to appreciate the vital factor in the Social Credit analysis.

It is this: The deficiency of purchasing power laid bare by Douglas in the A plus B Theorem is created by them as though the Theorem were a "theory," which it is not. It is a statement of fact, to illustrate the fact that it is economic growth in a period of time that results in buying power, in the form of wages and profits, always being less, in an expanding economy than the prices being generated in any given period of time.

Economic growth is merely the old-time Marxian's "surplus value," and when that growth has been monetized, according to the Douglas proposals, then "surplus value" has been socialized.

The people as a whole, and equally, will be paid the monetary equivalent of any increased production, and thus, at any one time, will have money claims to the whole of production and all the goods will, therefore, be delivered to the people as a whole.

Profit, over and above the living expenses of those who produce it, will, under Social Credit, be merely a money claim to goods that can only be exercised by its investment in capital production that will provide more goods in the future.

That is, after a person who has received profit has spent a portion of it on his own living, if he does not invest it to increase future production he simply makes a present to the whole people of the goods for which his money has a claim.

Mr. Luff's letter is admirably temperate, but in Mr. Bird's letter are some of the worst views of the English Socialist economists—Gaitskell, Strachy, Durbin, Hiskett, Lewis et al.—from which his arguments are derived. They also, significantly, fail to realize, or admit, the fact that it is economic growth that is the cause of the deficiency of purchasing power.

But, peculiarly enough, in the Labor Party's pamphlet, got out by Durbin, Hiskett and Lewis, they quarrel with Social Credit and then conclude by advocating absolutely and completely the same proposals which they have damned.

This is not surprising. The Douglas proposals are correct, inevitable and automatic, and once the deficiency of purchasing power through growth of capital plant is apprehended, the Social Credit reforms follow as day follows night.

Mr. Bird really shouldn't quote the reckless Mr. Sanders, for many economists are beginning to admit that Douglas is right, among them being Dr. R. F. Irvine, Dr. Levesque of the Dominion College, Ottawa; Professor Joseph, who in 1925 took the highest honor in mathematics that Cambridge could grant, and others.

The proposals of Paul H. Douglas, University of Chicago, in "Controlling Depressions," are a distinct step toward Social Credit.

And what about the eminent Socialist economists who got out the British Labor Party's pamphlet against Social Credit, above mentioned? Why were they driven by their own conclusions to advocate all three of the Social Credit proposals?

OWEN L. JULIE,
St. Mary's Vicarage.

"MOTHER CANADA"

To the Editor:—"In days of yore, from Britain's shore, Wolfe, that glorious hero, came." So we sang it as we sailed in a battleship from Halifax for Capetown in September, 1899. After a bit we forgot about Britain's shore, and sang only of that place where he "Planted firm Britannia's flag—on Canada's fair domain."

To us had come our majority; we felt the urge of nascent nationhood. "O Canada! Our Home, Our Native Land," we roared. That, too, was splendid! But some of us were too young then to realize that before our country could "True patriot worth in all her sons command," those same sons had to be tried, and their real worth proved in the fire of battle, in the "sturm und drang" of a world-wide conflagration—more than once.

I remember, as well, that we were just plain angry, "brim full of wrath and cabbage," for our soldiers' friend, Kipling, had ratted on us. After that keen, fair drive, "Daughter in her mother's house, but Mistress in her own," he had hit a measly foul in calling her "Our Lady of the Snows." Of course, that wasn't Rudyard's fault; he merely cribbed that idea from Louis, "Roi de la Belle France": "Canada? Qu'est-ce que c'est? Dix mille arpents de neige!"

But now (looking on that light green page, where you, Mr. Editor, ensnare most of your would-be saviors of their race), our anthem should ring true; forget about any command for true native worth and go like this: "Pierce vitriol strife thy Native Sons demand." "Ca ira! Marchons enfants de la patrie" and, if you prefer to be anonymous,

GRATEFULLY REMEMBERED

To the Editor:—May I take the liberty of expressing to you my appreciation of your leading article under the heading "Premier Baldwin."

The measure of praise so generously bestowed upon that statesman is an example to many who are not always so ready to allow their sense of honesty and moral values to rise superior to politics.

The writer was glad you made mention of the crisis last December. Let it be hoped that Stanley Baldwin's handling of that extremely delicate affair will, for all time, be gratefully remembered by all the people of the British Empire who have its interests at heart.

SOCIAL PROGRESS DELAY IRKS

To the Editor:—Depressing are the accounts given by the mayors of the various cities throughout the country at their meeting at Ottawa.

Really sometimes you cannot wonder at dictators arising in the slow and stupid way some of the present-day governments go to work to remedy things and make the absolute and most essentially necessary social adjustments. If the capitalist system ever did collapse, it would be caused chiefly by those who are so slow to pass laws to correct things in time.

Look at the round-about way in seeking some relief for the taxpayers, going to the Old Country and quibbling about 1/2 per cent cut on the bond interest. All this, when everybody knows it is the people that are carrying heavy mortgages. Those paying 7 and 8 per cent are the ones that cannot pay their taxes in nine cases out of ten. Let the cities get behind the Quebec proposition and limit all mortgage interest to 4 per cent, not waste their time talking about 1/2 per cent on bonds.

Again those royal commissions are too long-drawn out, taking years at times to get a report. Sufficient was shown of the profits mill and factories back east were making to have warranted any dictator, or other sensible government to have passed laws by now limiting those vast profits to 10 per cent at most. The surplus should be divided between better wages for the workers and the rest going as revenue for the government, to assist them in other forms of relief, to the workers and the taxpayers of the country.

ADSON

"ALL OF ADAM'S BLOOD"

To the Editor:—This idea about pre-Adamites or primitive races has been spreading to the minds of many people in modern times.

The view on pre-Adamites was first put forth by a certain French writer, Isaac de la Pyre, in his work entitled pre-Adamites (pre-Adamites), published in 1855. But his work did not spread very far during his lifetime.

Isaac de la Pyre was not an atheist, but he had ideas of his own on the genealogy of man from the beginning. He denied all people were of Adam. But when we, looking up the scriptures, find it clear enough that Adam and Eve were the first people at the beginning, and in tracing the genealogy of all the people of the earth by the scriptures, we find it clear enough that they are the descendants from Adam and Eve—every one of them. The family lineage of Adam and Eve includes all the people of the earth. They are of Adam's blood every one of them!

Pre-Adamites or primitive races are not mentioned in scriptures. Isaac de la Pyre made some big mistakes in his writing on genealogy of man.

Triggerless Machine Gun Shoots Without Powder

Washington—A centrifugal machine gun which is intended to shoot bullets in rapid succession, on the same principle that the sling used by David hurled the fatal stone which slew Goliath, is the subject matter of a patent (No. 2,043,117) recently granted here to B. F. S. Baden-Powell, English inventor, and army officer, who is known for his invention of the man-lifting kite.

The novel machine gun has no trigger and uses no powder to send its bullets against the enemy. Hence the familiar rat-tat-tat of the conventional machine guns is eliminated. Centrifugal force, the same force that tilts a person riding in a car turning

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

Dan Moses, who actually is a kindly soul with a wealth of understanding for the boys he handles, has donned his marinet mantle for the James Bay Athletic Association eight. The senior rowing coach of the city's veteran athletic body has hoisted the storm warnings and has opened up on the tongue lashings that go with spring training for the crew which last year won the N.P.A.A. championship.

"They know what they're supposed to do, but they're soft," Dan says. The boys started work a couple of days ago in anticipation of an early visit to Seattle and may, with reasonable luck, be in shape to match strokes with the University of Washington lightweights, from the famous school of Al Ulbrickson, by April 10.

The local boys will be rowing together for their second season. It takes three years to make a crew. Moses figures, but the boys did unusually well last year. Arnold Mann, stroke, Chris Usher, Don Davis, Jack McDonald, Max Winkler, Hugh Francis, Jimmy Temple and Bill Seale, bow, are pulling sweeps during workouts and are expected to retain their seats in the big boat when race dates roll around.

The Victorians hope to bring here the Washington lightweight crew, and meet Portland Rowing Club and Oregon State College during the year. They appear assured of several good races, including N.P.A.A. competition this season. San Francisco and San Diego may also be represented here in Pacific Coast competition and the usual races with Vancouver should round out a good schedule.

It was stated at the annual meeting of the British Baseball Association National Council that 450 teams will be in action in England this summer including ninety in Yorkshire, cricket stronghold.

Negotiations have been opened by the Southern Transvaal Football Association for a tour of South Africa by Aberdeen, crack Scottish soccer team, during the coming season.

S. E. Parks is said to have spent $125,000 trying to popularize pro rugby in London, an effort which ended when the Streattham and Mitcham club withdrew from the Rugby League with twelve games unplayed.

S. Cope, a member of the South Australian cricket team that won the Dr. W. G. Grace's English eleven which toured Australia in 1874; is dead at eighty-four.

Sir Abe Bailey's Lovely Rosa, winner of The Oaks last year, has been mated with Tibertus, winner of the Ascot Gold Cup and the Goodwood Cup for the same owner in 1935.

All clubs have replied to the English Football League questionnaire regarding the proposed two-referee system but the management committee has not disclosed its attitude toward the plan.

Badminton playing reduces tennis efficiency according to an official of the Southern Transvaal Tennis Association, but his views are opposed by other South African tennis experts.

After playing thirty matches in South Africa, Alf Padgham's British professional golfing team is home. In three international matches, each country won one; the third was halved.

A. W. F. Somerset, eighty-two, president of Sussex County Cricket Club and captain of two M.C.C. teams that visited the West Indies, died at Castle Goring, recently.

The South American Football Federation has prohibited the competition of any of its members in Europe, a sequel to the disqualification of Peru at the Berlin Olympics.

Series Games To Start Tomorrow On Three Fronts

Lynn Patrick Scores Marker As Rangers Tounce Canadiens 3 to 1

Detroit Drops Pair of Games

Canadian Press
It's open season today in the reputation running sport of picking winners of the National Hockey League and Stanley Cup playoffs. A final scoring salvo that produced thirty-five goals in five games boomed farewell to the regular season and left the ice clear for the post-schedule series that starts tomorrow night.

While experts matched contestants in an effort to find the answers, Chicago Black Hawks and New York Americans slipped from the scene today.

Detroit Red Wings, last year's world champions, and Montreal Canadiens meet tomorrow night at Detroit in the first game of their best-of-five series for the league title.

At Montreal, Boston Bruins and Montreal Maroons open the best-of-five series between second place clubs and the third-place teams.

Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers, play at Toronto. Canadiens and Toronto are favorites to come out on top.

MAROONS LOOK GOOD
There has been little unanimity about the Boston-Maroon series. Tommy Gorman's men looked great in beating Americans, 8 to 4, at Montreal, Saturday night, and in taking Detroit, 5 to 1, at Detroit. Boston did a bit of high scoring themselves in whipping Chicago, 6 to 1, at Boston last night.

Detroit lost two games, dropping one to Toronto, 3 to 2, Saturday night, as well as to Maroons. The Canadian division winners—Canadiens—also dropped a game. Rangers defeated them, 3 to 1, in New York.

Phil Watson, Mac Colville and Lynn Patrick rapped in markers for New York, while Babe Siebert scored the Habitués' only goal. The defeat left Canadiens with only a one-point margin over Maroons in the standing.

Schriener took the point-scoring championship with a goal and two assists in the American game at Montreal. Joe Lamb, Lorne Carr and Neil Stewart scored the other New York goals.

Amerks held Maroons to 1 to 1 in the first period, but Maroons went ahead, 2 to 1, in the second and scored five goals in the final period.

Bob Grace and Lionel Conacher each scored two, and Gus Marker, Herb Cain, Russ Blinco and Dave Trotter getting the others.

Toronto tried hard to give Sylv Apps chances to score in the game with Detroit, but the best the sensational rookie could do was one assist. Buzz Bell and Gordon Drillon scored in the first for Leafs, and when Howard Mackie and Hec Kilrea evaded it in the third Harvey Jackson drove in the winner.

Herb Lewis scored Detroit's only goal against Maroons. Dave Trotter fattened his average with two for Maroons, and Marker, Baldy Northcott and Paul Runge drove the others.

past Norm Smith, Detroit goalie, who won the Vezina trophy.

Bruins' win over Hawks was their first in Boston this season. Charlie Sands and Ray Gettiffe led the Boston scoring parade with two each and rookie Bobby Bauer and Woody Dumart got the others, all before Pep Kelle scored for Chicago in the last minute of the game.

CARDINALS SEEK TITLE

Will Oppose Province Girls For Coast Basketball Honors Wednesday

Jack Taylor's Cardinals will step out on the floor at the High School gym, Wednesday evening, to meet the Vancouver Province quintette in a sudden-death game for the coast intermediate A girls' championship. The game will get under way at 8:30 o'clock.

Journeying to Vancouver last year, the Cards lost to the newbies by five points after a hard-fought tussle. Taylor's girls have maintained a good record all season and are hoping to reverse last year's decision.

The show will open at 6:30 o'clock when the Nanaimo Juniors invade the gym to tangle with the Metropolitans in the final game for the Vancouver Island junior boys' crown.

The intermediate B boys' championship will be at stake when the Nanaimo Dalkins meet the Canadian Scottish in the second game on the programme, which should get started about 7:30 o'clock.

Jack Taylor, president of the Victoria and District Basketball League, states today that Hoyle-Brown has filed protest questioning the right of their replay against Albermarl which took place Saturday night at the High School gym and resulted in the local merchants losing the island senior B men's title series by one point.

SOFTBALLERS TO STAY OUT

B.C. Association Decides Against Affiliation With Amateur Union

Vancouver, March 22.—The British Columbia Softball Association has decided to retain for another year its independent amateur status and to remain outside the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada fold.

At the annual meeting here Saturday night delegates voted against affiliation with the Dominion amateur body.

Formation of a new class under twenty-one years of age to give more players opportunity to participate in the game was adopted.

Dr. S. F. Tolmie, M.P., Victoria, was named honorary president. Other officers included Mayor Andrew McGavin, Victoria, and Mayor G. C. Miller and Hugh M. Fraser, Vancouver, honorary vice-presidents.

W. A. Smith and S. Rowley, Vancouver, and E. Oliver, Victoria, vice-presidents, and H. R. Davidson, secretary-treasurer.

Varsity Winner
Vancouver, March 22.—Playing inspired rugby, the University of British Columbia defeated North Shore All-Blacks 5 to 5, Saturday, in the final game of the Miller Cup series.

The game also counted as the semi-final of the Tisdall Cup competition, and the victory gave the Thunderbirds the right to meet New Westminster in the final of that event.

New Westminster Royals To Play Here Saturday

Holders of the Canadian football championship, the New Westminster Royals will invade Victoria on Saturday afternoon for an intercity match against Victoria United at the Athletic Park, starting at 3 o'clock. T. M. Robb will be the referee.

Selection of the Victoria eleven will be made later in the week. The locals will take the field without the services of Gordie Bell, clever outside right, who has left the city. In their last intercity engagement the United handed Nanaimo City a one-sided setback.

On Good Friday morning two first division league matches will be played, Victoria West, league leaders, will engage Saanich Thistles at Heywood Avenue with Scotty McKay as referee, and Victoria City will oppose Esquimalt at Bullen Park with Bill Allen in charge. Both games will start at 10:30 o'clock.

Victoria Star and Montreal Partner Finish in Tie For Second Place But Drop Down on Points; Ignat and Diot Top Field By Margin of Lap

Chicago, March 22.—The French pair, Emil Diot and Emile Ignat, won Chicago's thirty-seventh international six-day bicycle race last night in the Chicago Stadium, finishing with a one-lap margin over Cor Wals and Alvaro Georgetti, and the Canadian team of William (Torchy) Peden, Victoria, B.C., and Jules Audy, Montreal, who tied for second place.

The victory was the second achieved by the Frenchmen in this country, and was accomplished in one of the closest races ever presented in Chicago. They covered 2,230 miles, 9 laps and scored 579 sprint points. Wals and Georgetti turned in the huge total of 1,302 points, while the other second place sharers, Peden and Audy, had 454.

Portland Wins Playoff Opener

Associated Press
Portland, March 22.—Portland Buckaroos today had the jump on their Spokane rivals for the Pacific Coast Hockey League championship. After clipping Vancouver Lions out of the playoffs last week Clippers found themselves on the receiving end for a change and took a 4 to 1 drubbing from the bucs in the first of the five game series to decide the league champions.

Ronnie Martin, Portland's 140-pound package of scoring dynamite, supplied the power that carried Bobby Rowe's squad to their first game victory. The hockey-wise Martin snapped home one of his team's goals and assisted in two others.

LOCALS LOSE HOOP PLAY-OFF

Sparlings Defeat Sons to Capture Intermediate A Coast Championship

Sparked by a stocky little forward answering to the name of Naples, Sparlings', intermediate "A" boys' mainland champions from Vancouver, nosed out Alan Le Marquand's Sons of Canada 18 to 17 Saturday evening in the final of the Coast divisional basketball title in a sudden-death fixture played at the High School gymnasium.

Naples turned in a keen exhibition of speed and shiftness on the court and led his team's total of points with three field baskets and a foul shot.

Close checking rather than floundering basketball featured the fixture and the interval found the mainland boys leading by a score of 8 to 7.

Taking the ball from the opening tip-off the Sons passed into the Vancouver zone and had more or less control of the play for the first few minutes of the game, although they were not able to score.

A fast break on the part of the shifty Naples turned the tables as he went in under the Sons' basket and scored to give the Vancouver boys a two-point lead. Following up their advantage, Sparlings again scored when Giong sank a neat one-hander from under the basket.

Some close checking play brought no further score for the next few minutes till Bill Noel broke the ice for the Canadians with a long floater from the blue line that scored without touching the rims of the hoop. Walker went in for Smart on the Sons' set-up and Turner added a couple of points when he made a free-shot rebound good to tie the score.

Muir and Gias scored in turn for Sparlings and Turner bagged a free shot and Jackson a field goal for the Sons to make the half time score read 8 to 7 for Vancouver.

SONS LEAD
Ten seconds after the interval Walker scored from a bucket shot to put the Sons ahead and Jackson again scored for the Canadians on a foul this time and Lavin cut the Sons' lead to three points when he converted from the foul strip.

Jackson ended the Sons' scoring spree with a free shot and then Sparlings turned on the heat, with Gias and Naples scoring to put Vancouver two points in the lead.

Sparlings took their fourth time out and then the mainlanders rang up another two points when Gias again scored. Turner cut Sparlings' lead on a foul shot and Busher Jackson spectators thronged, the Canadian Scottish made a good stand against the Wanderers in the intermediate clash.

The teams battled through a scoreless first period before Jack Grogan broke the deadlock with a try that came from a follow-up play on a dribble ten minutes after the interval. McGregor was credited with the second try at the close of another Oak Bay dribble. The Scottish never gave up until the whistle.

Championship Dog Event to Be Held in Crystal Garden, April 3

Interesting breeds, some of which have never been shown on the island before, are entered for the championship dog show of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association, to be held in the Crystal Garden on April 3.

Among the new canines to be bunched will be the Keeshonden or Dutch barge dog, Brittany spaniels and miniature Schnauzers. W. H. Pym, Vancouver, noted authority on dogs, will be the judge. Pym recently returned from New York, where he was one of the judges in the big three-day dog show held in Madison Square Garden, in which 3,000 dogs were entered.

There will be a parade of all dogs during the evening, when an announcer will inform the spectators as to the breeds as well as the kennels from which they are entered.

A cedar chest, filled with linen, will be given the person estimating the correct number of tickets sold for the show. Persons wishing information on the show are asked to phone Mrs. C. Bloomfield, 134 Menzies Street, at G4788.

EDMONTON IN HOCKEY LOSS

Dominions Drop Allan Cup Play-off Engagement to North Battleford

The west blew trumpets today for North Battleford as the Beavers continued their march along the road leading to Canadian senior hockey finals. One victory away from western finals and three from the series for the Allan Cup, the Saskatchewan club continues to impress as it goes.

Beavers defeated Edmonton Dominions 4 to 2 at Calgary, scene of next month's cup finals, in the first of a best of three series. The second game will be played tonight and the series winner will meet Fort William in the western finals.

Quebec Aces won a provincial title yesterday by defeating St. Jerome, Quebec intermediate winner, 2 to 1 for a second successive victory.

There will be a mixed foursome competition at the Uplands Golf Club on Good Friday.

The competing foursomes will make their own arrangements regarding partners, opponents and starting times. Post entries only will be accepted.

Naples scored on a foul and, with a chance to tie up the score in the last two minutes of play, Turner missed his first foul shot but bagged the second for the final score of the game just before the whistle.

ADVERTS WIN
Bob Whyte's Adverts took the opening game on the card and the junior girls' title from Duncan in a total-point series 57 to 21. The local girls led at half-time and ran their score to 28 to 7 in the second half.

In a replay match between Hoyle-Brown and Alberni, the locals took the fixture 33 to 28 but lost the home-and-home total-point series by one point due to their defeat at the hands of the up-islanders 34 to 28 on Thursday.

Canadian Press
Toronto, March 22.—Calgary's Sweeney Schriener, New York American left wing, won the National Hockey League point-scoring championship for the second successive year as the schedule closed last night. He scored twenty-one goals and twenty-five assists for a total of forty-six, according to unofficial figures.

His is the second successive win in the twenty-year history of the league. Charlie Conacher of Toronto Maple Leafs led in 1934 and 1935. Others have won it two seasons but not in succession.

Schriener's three points in the game with Montreal Maroons Saturday night gave him the title by one point over Sylvanus Apps, sensational Toronto rookie. Schriener won last year with 19 goals and 26 assists for 45 points.

TOPS AMERICAN SECTION
Marty Barry's one point in the Maroons-Detroit game last night won him the leadership of the American division over Larry Aurie, his teammate.

Dominoes Must Win Three Straight to Retain Cage Title

Victoria Champs Drop Second Tilt To Varsity Squad

Students Within Game of B.C. Honors After 34 to 22 Victory

Resume Series Here on Friday

By PETE SALLAWAY

Vancouver, March 22.—Varsity basketballers had a strange hold on the British Columbia senior men's championship following their second straight victory over the Victoria Dominoes here Saturday night 34 to 22. The University of British Columbia squad needs only one more win to cop the title and go into the Canadian play-downs. The best three-out-of-five series will be resumed in Victoria Friday night. Varsity took the first game on Friday night 42 to 22.

After holding the rampaging students to a four-point lead, 15 to 11, in the first half the Dominoes faded right out of the picture in the last twenty minutes and towards the finish the collegians ran wild. With only minutes to play Varsity pulled off their regular and threw in the substitutes to wind-up play.

With Art Chapman, their usually high-scoring centre, still in a slump, the Dominoes looked little better than in the opening battle. The Victoria boys appeared to have more fight but their shooting and passing was again far below form. The famous Varsity defence was again much in evidence and the island representatives just could not get in close for their shots. The students checked their men hard right out in the centre of the floor and as a result the Dominoes seldom got set to work their plays.

MOTTISHAW PLAYS WELL

On the floor for practically the entire game Jack Mottishaw was outstanding on the Dominoes' front line.

He only snared a couple of points but nobody on the floor worked harder. Hank Rowe was in the spotlight a great deal during the evening and his shooting was greatly improved over the first game with the result he topped the Victoria scorers with eight points, two field baskets and four line throws. Little red-headed Bert Davies was second high with five points.

Dominoes, when the going got tough in the second half, were further disorganized when foul after foul was called on them. Art Chapman left the floor early in the period on four personals. He departed after having contributed a lone point to his team's score. Shortly after Carl Coates followed him to the bench on his quota of fouls. The Dominoes had a total of sixteen fouls called on them, and at times it seemed Referee Ralph Thomas was making his calls plenty close.

However, the refereeing had nothing to do with the Dominoes' defeat. They were set down by a better club. Varsity were pulled up eleven times for fouls.

Two games down the Dominoes face a stiff job to pull the series out of the fire. With two straight B.C. titles to their credit the boys had their hearts set on three straight. Although they were a disappointed lot of players Saturday night they will no doubt regain some of that fighting spirit by Friday. Playing on their home floor and before a supporting crowd they should do better.

GUARDS HIGH SCORERS

Strange as it may seem the big scoring threats for Varsity Saturday were Ran Mathison and Joe Pringle, the two guards. This pair went to town in a big way, the former dropping through eleven points and Pringle ten. The latter got four of his points on foul shots.

Jimmy Barsley was again the clever floor general, and in addition to scoring six points he engineered many plays that resulted in baskets.

To win in Victoria the Dominoes will have to slow the play down. The Victoria team cannot outpace the blue and gold players as they have speed to burn and can turn on the heat for the full forty minutes. The Victoria club will have to rely on their ball handling and home floor shooting to pull them through.

For the first ten minutes of the game it was a basket for basket proposition. The Dominoes got off into the lead when Chuck Chapman dropped the ball through after ten seconds. Henderson tied it up, only to have Rowe put the invaders on top again. Pringle and Davies matched baskets and Mathison got into the corner to drop in a beauty and tie it up at 6 to 6. With seven minutes to go the students moved into an 11 to 8 lead. They matched everything the Dominoes tried and at the half had a four-point edge, 15 to 11.

The second half was all Varsity. The Dominoes kept in the running until Art Chapman left the floor and then it was just a matter of how many points the students would win by. The Dominoes threw in substitutes in a last desperate to break up the Varsity powerhouse, but it failed to halt the home squad.

The box score follows:

SINGH WINS OVER ARNOLD

East Indian Defeats Bostonian By Odd Fall in Main Mat Tilt Saturday

Crowding his opponent all the way, Harnam Singh, East Indian, grappled his way to an odd-fall victory over Sailor Jack Arnold, Boston, in the feature bout on the wrestling show at the Tillicum gym Saturday night.

Displaying a marked improvement in his wrestling prowess since his first appearance in Victoria a month ago, Singh put on a great show for the fans. Using a bear hug and a spin, the East Indian secured the first fall in the third round.

A turn-over body scissors gave Arnold the tying fall in the fourth. Coming in fast at the start of the fifth Singh bounced Arnold around with flying mares and then flattened him for the winning fall.

A one-fall draw was the outcome of the semi-main bout that brought together Chief Thunderbird, Saanich Indian, and Steve Strelch, Hollywood. At the opening gong Strelch flashed out of his corner, laid the Indian flat with a drop-kick, and pressed him for the opening fall—all in fifteen seconds.

The match went into a one-fall deadlock in the fourth round when Thunderbird, who improved greatly through his appearances on the coast and in Honolulu, forced Strelch to tap the mat after putting plenty of pressure on an Indian deathlock hold.

Reginald Hopkins fought Mohan Singh to a no-fall draw in the special bout on the card.

The opener saw Young Des Anderson wrestle his way to a one-fall win over Young Doc Sarpolis.

Cooperage In Football Win

Cooperage secured a 5 to 1 victory over a nine-man Esquimalt team, in a second division soccer match played Saturday afternoon. Cooperage was in front 2 to 0 at the interval.

Duncan's tally halfway through the initial half gave the eventual winners their opening goal and before the session terminated an Esquimalt full-back deflected the ball into his own net. In the final stanza Dan Duncan, Don Duncan and Mathews scored for Cooperage, while Eddie DeCosta saved the dockers from a whitewash when he netted their only tally.

Victoria West In Cup Football Win

Greenshirts Defeat Victoria City 2 to 1 in Final For Phoenix Cup; Noel Morgan Nets Winning Goal in Second Half

One of the best gatherings of soccer fans seen this season turned out Saturday afternoon at the Athletic Park to watch the city's two smartest football clubs—Victoria West and Victoria City—battle it out for possession of the Phoenix Cup. The outcome of the fray, which produced many interesting moments for the followers, was a 2 to 1 victory for the Wests.

The winning goal, which came early in the final half, was a clever bit of football. Six minutes after the start of the half the Wests' forwards sallied up the field on one of their periodical attacks. "Scotty" Robinson, manoeuvring the leather smartly out on his right lane, centred to Noel Morgan, right in front of the City goal. Morgan bounced the ball off his head into the net for a goal that proved to be the winner.

GOALIES SHINE

The big feature of the game was the excellent performances of the net-minders, Rowe for the City and Restell for the Wests. They guarded their nets zealously, successfully warding off drives from fast attacks with a expert touch that drew many admiring yells from the ball-kicking followers on the sidelines.

In the first stanza the green-and-white outfitted Wests hammered at the City end incessantly, but they found Rowe to be a formidable barrier which they were able to pierce but once, this about thirty-five minutes after the start, five minutes after the City had ushered in the scoring. It was a lucky goal, Cliff Robinson was called for hands near centre. Roy Barnes, shifty centre-half for the Wests, took the kick. Aided on by a strong east wind—an uncomfortable feature for the fans—the ball sailed straight for Goalie Rowe's docket. It came at him over his head, and he raised his hands to capture it, but the force of the drive tore the leather from his hands and it fell into the net.

Only occasionally in this stanza did the Victoria City lads manage to fight their way to their opponents' end. It was during one of them, however, that Eddy Moore, inside right operator, engineered the leather in close, and then shooting with deadly accuracy ploughed the ball into the corner of the net to open the score. The teams retired at the breather in a 1 to 1 deadlock.

SECOND HALF

With the wind at their backs the City pressed with everything they possessed as the last half got under way, and it was during these pushes that Goalie Restell was called on to make some remarkable saves. For six minutes they held play at the Wests' end. Then suddenly the Wests broke away on a fine forward movement that terminated with a tally. For the remainder of the half the City kept up their aggressive play, but the Wests with their one-goal lead were taking no chances and kept a heavy defence around their goal which the losers just could not penetrate. On occasions they came close. The Wests found their way into their opponents' territory quite often, but Goalie Rowe was an obstacle they could not master.

"Scotty" Dowds refereed.

The teams follow:

Victoria West—Restell, Sweeney, R. Bell, Lorandini, Barnes, Emery, Robinson, Sage, Watt, Okell and Morgan.
Victoria City—Rowe, Moody, Roper, C. Robbins, G. Robbins, Reside, Youson, Moore, Brandow, Halkett, Payne, R. Okell and Peers.

Pitzer and Nex In Football Win

Driving across a pair of markers in the last five minutes of the tussle, Pitzer and Nex soccer eleven triumphed over Victoria Meat Market, 2 to 0, yesterday afternoon in a Saanich and District Football League Whittaker Cup match at Hampton Road.

It was a close battle throughout. Five minutes from the finish, Joe Travis, the gamen's centre forward, took Hiranman Castillo's cross quite close to the Meat Market goal and sagged the hemp for the opening goal. Just before the final whistle Gordie Moust centred to Bobby Tuthill, outside right, with the latter smashing the ball at the goal. The ball rebounded off the netminder and Tuthill scored on his second attempt.

PLAY TO DRAW

Vancouver, March 22.—St. Saviour's and North Shore United battled to a 1 to 1 tie here Saturday in the first Inter City Soccer League match to be played since last December 26.

These are the facts -

You smoke because you enjoy it — because smoking gives you pleasure, gives you that something which nothing else in life quite supplies. How much pleasure it gives you depends upon the tobacco. Ever and always, "it's the tobacco that counts".

Speaking particularly of cigarettes, a cigarette cannot give you more than pleasure, satisfaction and comfort — it is not in any sense a cure-all. The only extras in a cigarette that can increase your pleasure are extra good tobacco, perfectly matured; extra pure paper and extra skill in manufacture. Together they insure that pleasing aroma and straight tobacco taste that alone give you a clean, gratifying smoke.

To give the greatest pleasure to the smoker is the incentive which guides this company in the selection, ageing and conditioning of the tobacco, and in the manufacturing processes that follow in the making of cigarettes.

Ottawa Action On Docks Asked

Chamber of Commerce to Refer Longshore Dispute to Dominion

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce will refer the city's waterfront controversy to Ottawa, with a request for speedy action. This course was decided on at a meeting of the directors today after a report of a special committee appointed to consider the matter had been presented by George E. MacDonald.

The report estimated the possible loss at $46,000 annually.

T. Elwood Watkins, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, pointed out that a similar situation existed in Montreal and suggested the Victoria chamber get in touch with the eastern city.

Columbia Shows

"Texas Rangers"

Paramount was called upon to ship an impressive list of "properties" to the desert near Gallup, New Mexico, where King Vidor's location company staged the dramatic Indian war which appears in "The Texas Rangers," now showing at the Columbia Theatre.

The list included more than 50,000 rounds of blank cartridges—which went off rapidly because of the fondness of Indian actors for firing their guns. Other "props" required included 500 bows and 5,000 arrows, and nearly a thousand rifles and revolvers.

Famous Comedian Takes

Leading Role in "The Milky Way" Opening Today

Harold Lloyd's new Paramount farce, "The Milky Way," is now at the Plaza Theatre today.

Some time during his life every man dreams of doing the wild things that Lloyd does in this comedy. Every woman, too, has hoped that the man of her choice would prove a hero in a crisis when a bully, clever with his fists, starts out to make the object of her affections the object of his objections.

Lloyd is seen as a humorless, shy, ineffectual boob of a milkman whose only aim in life is to deliver more milk bottles to more customers. When a drunken fight champion takes a swing at the milkman, an adept at ducking and knocking himself out, the milk-bottle boy takes the credit for the victory and is launched as a contender for the middle-weight championship.

There is not a single moment in the picture without its generous quota of laughs. The gags flash past the screen like comets. Once the milkman wins confidence in himself, he challenges any fighter to hit him, and keeps ducking with both hands in his pocket.

George Raft and Dolores Costello are the stars in "Yours for the Asking," which is the second picture on the programme.

Gladys Swarthout Sings

Many Favorites in "Champagne Waltz"

Gay old Vienna is the background for songs by Gladys Swarthout, dancing by Velox and Yolanda, and comedy by Fred MacMurray and Jack Oakie in "Champagne Waltz," which comes today to the Atlas Theatre.

"Champagne Waltz" is Miss Swarthout's third appearance in motion pictures. The beautiful lyric soprano voice of the famous Metropolitan Opera diva has already captivated America and it is promised that the music especially written for her in this production will add fresh laurels to the crown she wears as the screen's Queen of Song. MacMurray, who was a band leader before he came to Hollywood, has a part in this production similar to the one he had in "A Princess Comes Across." He also plays the saxophone, on which he is a skilled performer.

Velox and Yolanda, recognised as America's leading interpreters of ballroom dancing, do several numbers in "Champagne Waltz," in the new swing-waltz tempo.

"Bulldog Drummond Escapes" is also being featured on this programme.

Dominion Books

Powerful Drama

Two motion picture performers of whom great things are expected in the near future make their screen debuts in "John Meade's Woman," a powerful love drama which begins tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre.

The first is Francine Larrimore, noted stage star, who comes to the screen already known to millions as a result of her stage work. The second is John Trent, erstwhile TWA transport plane flier, who was "discovered" on a recent trip by B. P. Schulberg, producer, and given a "bid" to enter films.

"Missing Girls," starring Roger Pryor and Muriel Evans, will be the second picture.

Men's Choice for Wives

THE ONE THING girls crave to know more than anything else in the world is what kind of women men want to marry. Heretofore, this information has been withheld from them. The masculine preference in wives was a dark and unfathomable mystery, and the best the poor creatures could do was just to go on guessing at it and praying for luck in hitting some man's fancy.

Now, however, light has been thrown upon the subject. A group of scientific investigators who have been questioning men as to the type of wife they desire report that thirty-seven men out of a hundred want to marry an old-fashioned girl who likes to stay at home and take care of babies. Twenty-seven per cent of the men interrogated wanted a woman of social distinction for a wife. Twenty-two per cent sought one of spiritual character. Women with artistic leanings had few or no takers. Career women were simply not in the running at all.

Of course, no girl knows what hidden longings are in the heart of a man, but judging from observation she is not to be blamed for concluding that if modern young men pine for old-fashioned virtues in young women they give a remarkably successful exhibition of suppressed desires. In fact, so far as the domestic girl sees it, the girl with the fewest inhibitions and the least domesticity goes the farthest and the fastest and has the most beaux and the best times.

That this is sadly true we are bound to admit. Men, especially young men, are not attracted to women by their good qualities and they do not marry them because they would make good wives. No woman was ever a belle because she had taken half a dozen college degrees. No boy ever asked a girl to dance because she was kind to her old grandmother, or could make a good chocolate pie. It is the pretty little girls with a come-hither look in their eyes, and not the household angels, who have men flocking around them like bees around a honeypot.

Hence, it being a matter of common knowledge that there are so many sweet, shy little violets who were born to blush unseen in their own parlors, and that the world is filled with old maids who were cut out by nature to make ideal wives, it is flabbergasting to learn that it is the old-fashioned domestic type of wife, with all the traditional feminine virtues, that men prefer as wives.

However, this apparent inconsistency in the taste of men for women need surprise no one, for it has ever been their wont to marry for one thing and then expect their wives to be something totally different. They are attracted by glamour, but they want hard reality to live with. A man falls in love with a gadabout because she is a gay companion who is always ready to go places and do things, but he wants a stay-at-home wife who will never want to go further than the nursery or the kitchen.

He likes to take a girl out who is a fashionplate and who makes everybody rubber who sees her, but he wants his wife to cut her dress budget and hunt for bargains in the basements. A man may run around with wild women who haven't a moral or a principle in their whole constitution, but he wants his wife to believe in God and say her prayers and be without reproach. And, perhaps, that explains why the old-fashioned domestic girl so seldom has dates, but is just the kind of a wife that every man wants. It's after marriage that he prefers her.

Solar System Questions

I—THE SUN

After giving a talk on the solar system recently, I received a letter from a school pupil, and one of the paragraphs in the letter was this:

An edge of the sun, to give an idea of the sun's size compared to three planets.

"The way you compared the earth and the sun, is one that I will always remember. I never could have believed it was true unless you told it. The mighty size of the sun is only one of the startling facts which have been learned by astronomers. They have studied the subject with great care over a long period of years, and have found the sun to be 864,100 miles wide. That is close to 109 times the diameter of the earth.

During the next few days I shall give questions and answers about the solar system. Here is one: "How hot is the sun?"

The outside of the sun is believed to be about 10,000 degrees above zero, Fahrenheit. No way has been found to measure the heat inside the sun, but it is figured that the sun must be hundreds of times hotter inside than outside.

"What is the sun made of?"

The outside of the sun is made up of gases of many kinds, all very hot. Some of these gases would turn into certain kinds of metal if they cooled down.

By using the "spectroscope" scientists have found that the sun contains nearly the same elements as the earth. These elements include oxygen, iron, nickel, copper, tin and hydrogen.

The metals in the outside of the sun are in the form of gas because of their heated condition. If they were not so hot they would be in liquid form, and if they were cool they would turn into solid form.

"Is the earth farther from the sun in summer than in winter?"

Strange as it may seem, the earth is nearly 3,000,000 miles farther from the sun while we are having summer

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

TUESDAY, MARCH 22, 1937

According to astrology this is not an important day in planetary government. There may be an attitude of waiting for important events or legislation that will affect trade and commerce.

Leaders of men are under threatening omens that seem to presage sudden verities of sympathy on the part of the public. Bank officials and labor heads may be affected by adverse stars.

There is a good sign for international understanding between the United States and foreign nations. Financial agreements will prove advantageous.

This should be an encouraging day for shipping interests. Demands for exports from both eastern and western American ports will increase greatly, it is forecast.

New laws beneficial to labor and liberal concessions to workers in certain trades are prognosticated, but there will be many strikes and bitter contests between union dictators of parties.

The passing of prominent men who long have been foremost in public affairs will affect Congress and other legislative bodies before the end of this spring.

Young men and young women will be chosen for important places in both business and government affairs, for they will be in harmony with the changed order of things in this new era.

Persons whose birthdate is 11 have the augury of a year of much pleasure, but they should beware of too much self-indulgence.

Children born on this day are subjects of Aries and may be sensitive, proud and ambitious. Many succeed, but gain only limited fame.

Those who have celebrated it as a birthday include Madison J. Cawain, American poet, 1865; Paul Leicester Ford, author, 1869; and John Barrman, American botanist, 1899.

NO TIME TO PLAY

Northampton, Eng.—Modern children between the ages of seven and eleven were being exploited academically and socially and were in danger of losing the real joy of childhood, declared Miss E. Baker, president of the National Union of Teachers.

Three years of suffering and then at last—glorious relief! This woman feels it her duty to tell other sufferers how she got back her health. Here in her letter she tells her story:

"I feel it my duty to tell you how, after nearly three years of suffering with neuritis and backache, I have obtained relief after taking two bottles of Kruschen Salts. I have been in hospital, had radiant heat, etc., but nothing touched it until I read about Kruschen Salts, and the benefits derived from them. Old Log Describes
Trips of Long Ago*Star of Holland Arrives Here
For Conversion Into Barge; Twenty Years Ago
Was Handsome Ship Sailing Pacific

Her days as a wind-ship over, the once proud sailing ship Star of Holland reached Victoria yesterday at noon from San Francisco, towed by the Ss. Anyox. In a few days work of converting her into a giant barge will commence in the Inner Harbor and in about six weeks she will start her new life in British Columbia waters.

Never again will she go to sea under her own power. She arrived here short of her masts and rigging; nothing left but a lovely bow that warmed the hearts of all true seamen, who paused this morning on the Causeway to look at her.

The Anyox left Oakland Monday evening with the Star of Holland in tow. She met some rough weather coming north, but all went well and she arrived here in good time. She tied up at the Island Tug and Barge Company's wharf where conversion will take place.

BUILT IN 1885
The Star of Holland is now fifty-two years of age, but her hull is as good as the day she was launched from the Harland and Wolff yards in Belfast one day in 1885 as the Homeward Bound. Her lines are beautiful; her woodwork almost as good as ever. She is registered in Lloyd's at 2,801 tons, with a length of 292 feet, a beam of thirty-nine feet and a depth of twenty-three feet.

An old log book found aboard the Star of Holland is of interest to navigators. It covers a four-year period, from 1914 to 1918, when the ship was the property of the Alaska Packers and made voyages to Puget Sound, California, Alaska, and distant Pacific countries. No trace can be found of the vessel's activities when she was the Homeward Bound.

TOOK MONTHS

In reading the log of those days twenty years ago, one cannot help but compare the difference in Pacific Ocean speed with the present. Then it took months to cross from San Francisco to Manila. Now an ocean liner can do the voyage in three weeks, with calls at China, Japan and Hawaii and a clipper ship connects the two points, more than 5,000 miles apart, in five days, with over-night stops at Pacific islands.

Late in 1915 the Star of Holland left Port Ludlow, Washington, for Melbourne, a voyage which took seventy-five days. From there she sailed to Galeta Buena, Chili, "actual time, thirty-five days ten hours and all well," according to the log.

From Chili she headed for Honolulu, the voyage taking thirty-eight days and from there she proceeded to Puget Sound and was twenty-five days out. From the Sound she went to Callao, Peru, a voyage that lasted eighty-four days. The return trip to Port Townsend took forty-nine days.

The Star of Holland was a speedy ship, for in 1917 she made the voyage from San Francisco to Manila Bay in fifty-nine days.

On the return voyage she ran into difficulties. She was twenty-seven days out when she "returned to Manila on account of could not beat against northeast monsoon and short of potatoes and other provisions."

On her second attempt she made the voyage to San Francisco in sixty-two days.

Saturday's sailing of the Ss. Empress of Japan for Honolulu and the Orient was a gala affair, with a large number of Victorians on the docks to bid adieu to friends, while other groups came here from Vancouver and Seattle to see friends off on the big white ship.

The Empress, with Capt. L. D. Douglas on the bridge, arrived from Vancouver between 3:30 and 4 o'clock. Promptly at 5 o'clock the first "going ashore" gong was sounded by white-clad Chinese "boys," followed by the second fifteen minutes later, and the final at 5:30 o'clock. Right on time, the gangway was taken down, the big doors were closed tight and the ship started moving. Slowly she backed away, turned about, when she was about a mile from her pier and headed for Race Rocks, slowly gathering speed until she was doing nearly twenty knots off the Race. It will be Thursday morning before she slows down off Honolulu's Diamond Head.

A large number of Victorians visited the Empress to say farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Denny of Crescent, who were starting a voyage around the world. In their flower-decked cabin, laden also with other bon-voyage gifts, Mr. and Mrs. Denny said good-bye to their family and friends, and later waved from the main promenade deck of the liner, as she left her pier.

A group of former business associates went aboard to I. M. Isaacs, who lived in Victoria some years ago, and was connected with fishing interests on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

"I'm just off on a little trip on this craft—around the world," Mr. Isaacs said.

For the last eight years he has been a resident of San Francisco, and has only been a visitor here once or twice in that time. He will travel to Japan on the Empress, visit China and cross Siberia and Russia to the Scandinavian countries before returning to America in about three months.

RECALLED TRIP

Just before he sailed, Mr. Isaacs recalled a pleasant trip he had taken from Victoria in April, 1929, to the west coast of the island. That was when the Ss. Princess Norah was new and Capt. C. D. Neroutos, who was then manager of the B.C. Coast Service, commissioned her by inviting the Earl of Willington, then Governor-General of Canada, and the Countess of Willington to make the maiden voyage of the ship. A large group of Victoria and Vancouver business men were also invited, as well as Hon. R. Randolph Bruce, who was then Lieut.-Governor, and Miss Helen Mackenzie, then her uncle's chaperone at Government House.

Charles Medley of Hongkong, formerly of Victoria, who has been visiting his mother at her San Juan Avenue home for the last few months, was another centre of farewell group Saturday as the Empress sailed. He is returning to Hongkong to resume his position on the staff of the Hongkong Police Force.

Vancouver and Seattle people who came here to say farewell to friends returned to their homes yesterday.

Passengers on the Empress of Japan will be able to witness one of the earliest showings of one of the most costly moving pictures of the year.

J. H. Seidelman, foreign manager of Columbia Pictures Incorporated, is aboard the liner and has with him one of the first prints of "Lost Horizon," movie made from the story by James Hilton at a cost of about $2,000,000.

Mr. Seidelman is taking the picture to the Orient to study reactions to its Oriental theme.

Proceeds from the showings on board the liner will go to the Seamen's Fund.

EXECUTE ONLY
INCURABLES*Dr. S. C. Mei, Before Sailing
Saturday, Explained
China's Execution Methods

Almost absolute suppression of drug usage in China before the end of 1940 is predicted by Dr. S. C. Mei, chief of the Narcotics Prevention Hospital in Shanghai, who sailed Saturday from here as a passenger aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan.

Dr. Mei, who has spent the last several weeks in the United States, studying modern methods of treatment for drug addicts, claims that China is today in the greatest throes of any crisis in her existence, and it is not only recognized by the government, but by the people. Therefore, he said, the plan of reducing the use of drugs to the lowest minimum is meeting with the co-operation of the addicts, partly through fear of the drastic consequences, but chiefly from a patriotic fervor now sweeping the country.

A false impression is held in Europe, states Dr. Mei, concerning China's method of executing drug addicts. He points out that each user of opium or morphine, is first treated for a cure, with a small imprisonment, then released. Three attempts at cure are proffered, following which, if the user fails to respond, he is thoroughly examined and usually executed. Dr. Mei points out, however, the total number of executions is very slight. There were only 860 during 1935, according to the latest figures available, while over 1,000,000 recognized drug addicts are presently being cured. In addition to suppressing the usage, the government is also closing down on the grower and trafficker generally, in accordance with the findings of the "New Life" movement, by which it is hoped to regenerate the Chinese, mentally, morally and physically.

Traveling with Dr. Mei was Calvin K. J. Chen, president of the Chinese Students' League of Greater New York, and editor of The Chinese Journal in New York City.

Another prominent passenger aboard the flagship was G. Gee, prominent British architect of London, who reached shipside in Vancouver five minutes before departure, having flown by plane from Florida. Mr. Gee is proceeding to Hongkong on a private mission for the British Government.

B.C. READY
FOR TOURISTS*Greater Influx Than Ever Before Is Expected This Summer

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Vancouver, March 22.—British Columbia brushed up its "at home" sign today and prepared to welcome an all-time record of 1,500,000 callers from eastern Canada, the Prairie Provinces and the United States.

Transportation officials, hotel executives and merchants expected to share in almost $35,000,000 left behind by departing guests—an increase of 30 per cent over the estimated $25,000,000 spent last year by tourists in the province.

Anniversary celebrations in at least two cities were expected to swell the flow. Kamloops. In the interior Okanagan valley, will observe its 125th anniversary, while Victoria plans to mark seventy-five years of incorporation as a city.

TO COMBINE EVENTS
In other major centres Coronation observances should attract thousands of United States citizens, tourist association officials said. Vancouver civic officials, working in conjunction with the local tourist association, have completed arrangements for a three-month Coronation celebration, similar in nature to the Golden Jubilee programme of last year. Victoria will combine its Diamond Jubilee and Coronation celebrations in a five-month festival.

AUTOMOBILE TRAFFIC
R. A. Hutchison, publicity commissioner of Vancouver Tourist Association, told The Canadian Press early figures from ports of entry on the Pacific Highway near Blaine, Wash., and at Douglas, B.C., one mile west, showed a marked increase in automobile travel.

"Vancouver's Golden Jubilee publicity last year advertised the whole province," he said. "We didn't get full value in 1936 and should benefit again this year."

He estimated total tourist traffic this year would increase "at least 30 per cent over last season."

(A 30 per cent increase would exceed British Columbia's 1929 record by more than 100,000 persons.)

Mr. Hutchison said nearly $20,000,000 would be spent in Vancouver by tourists in 1937, compared with about $15,000,000 last year. Victoria and other provincial centres should share another $15,000,000.

BETTER SERVICE
G. H. Stevens, president of Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, reported the number of automobiles landed at Victoria, Sidney and Nanaimo in 1936 exceeded by 11 per cent the previous high total of 1929. More frequent service by shipping companies operating in Puget Sound and the Gulf of Georgia would result in a "very marked increase" this season, he said.

N. R. Desbriay, assistant passenger traffic manager for the C.P.R., a recent visitor here, said British Columbia could "look for a record tourist season so far as railways are concerned." C.N.R. officials, while hesitating to make comparative estimates of their business, said early indications pointed to "a bumper tourist season."

Empire liners and ships of the Canadian-Australian line will bring an estimated 10,000 travelers from the Orient, Australia and New Zealand. Many will stop at Victoria and Vancouver before proceeding to England for the Coronation in May, steamship executives said.

Miss L. V. Svecenski, traffic superintendent at Vancouver for British Columbia Motor Transportation Company, which annually brings thousands of tourists into the province from the United States, declared bus travel would be "35 per cent over last year's record."

Airlines expected to land at least 5,000 passengers at Vancouver's Sea Island airport this year, about two-fifths of them vacationists.

Victoria, seventy-five years after its foundation, confidently expected a record tourist traffic, and officials were attempting to do up extra accommodation for visitors. The five-month jubilee programme will open at the end of April with a musical festival and spring flower show, and close with the annual fall fair in September. Massed displays by school children, Highland games and military tattoos will mark the civic celebration.

SAILS HOME*Amelia Earhart and Companions Take Passage By Ss. Malolo For California

Associated Press
Honolulu, March 22.—Army fliers praised the cool nerve of Amelia Earhart today for averting possible tragedy in the crashup of her $80,000 "laboratory plane" and said the real cause of the accident which spoiled her world flight plans might never be known.

"I've seen and participated in many crashes," said Brigadier-General Barton Yount of the United States army air force, who witnessed the smashup, "but I never saw anybody come out of one so coolly as she."

The Hawaii Clipper, on a regular passenger run to Manila, continued its journey toward the Orient.

The Pan-American Clipper, blazing a new air trail to New Zealand and Australia, was tuned up for a possible take-off today for Kingman Reef, 1,067 miles south of here.

The right tire of Miss Earhart's plane apparently burst and the left undercarriage collapsed as she sped for the take-off.

A sheet of flame from the exhaust paralyzed onlookers when Miss Earhart "gunned" the left motor in an effort to straighten out the ship.

Then she cut the ignition switches. She and her navigator, Fred J. Noon and Capt. Harry Manning, were climbing out of the plane unhurt when the crowd reached the broken ship. Gasoline was sprayed over the concrete runway and the ground.

The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during three of the usual tidal periods.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.
